Congress Will Hear Message Next Monday

Foreign Capitals And Business Eagerly Awaiting Message From Roosevelt

MANY IMPORTANT POINTS FORECAST

Preparedness To Be Prominently Discussed In Communication Is Expectation

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Foreign capitals and captains of American industry watched the White House closely today as President Roosevelt began preparation of his message to congress on "the state of the nation", for delivery next Monday.

A demand for more adequate national defense, a plea for a budget as nearly in balance as possible, and a general reaffirmation of New Deal policies and objectives were reported by usually reliable informants to be the highlights Mr. Roosevelt will stress in this momentous document.

Probable Recommendations.

It was understood the president would recommend to congress:

1. Construction of two battleships in addition to the two already on the ways—the idea being jointly to strengthen American preparedness and at the same time give the steel and shipbuilding industries benefit of the $65,000,000 that each ship will cost.

2. Rigid economy and budget-balancing. Already the president on a number of occasions has stressed the need for holding federal expenditure.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Landscaping work is under way at the new library building at Westminister college. Evergreens and pines have been set out around the new building, and the site is being cleared of building debris. The exterior of the new building is completed, and it presents a most imposing appearance.

Albert street is still without stop signs on the intersecting streets. This highway should be made a through thoroughfare and the intersections marked, as a matter of traffic safety. The street, recently improved, is being much travelled.

Pa New is still of the idea that a series of small dams in the Neshannock creek through the city would be a worth while feature. It would keep the river bottom covered with water in the summer time, and greatly improve the appearance of the stream. In winter it would provide a number of good sized skating pools for winter sports enthusiasts. Years ago hundreds enjoyed skating on the Neshannock, when the Rosena furnace dam backed water up beyond the East Washington street bridge. No dam of the size of the Rosena dam is needed, but small temporary dams would do the trick.

Time is rapidly rolling around when the New Years resolutions will again be trotted out for revamping, or some new ones added to those of former years. Friday night is New Years eve.

Large amount of ashes put on the highways when they are icy, are gradually worked off the edge of the paving. These should help in keeping the berms from getting muddy.

Japanese Troops Nearing Tsingtao

(International News Service)
HANKOW, China, Dec. 28.—Japanese troops advancing across Shantung province are steadily approaching the port of Tsingtao, Chinese officials admitted today.

They said fighting at present is in progress at Chingchow and that Chinese troops are taking up defensive positions in the hills south of Tsinan. A main defensive stand, it was stated, will be made at Taian.

Dr. L. W. Wilson Dies Suddenly

Widely Known Surgeon Expires At Home On Monday Afternoon

DIES WHILE SEATED IN CHAIR IN HOME

Dr. Loyal Wilbur Wilson, dean of Lawrence county surgeons, expired suddenly, yet peacefully, in his home at 211 North Jefferson street, Monday afternoon at 2:20 o'clock. His death brought to an end a life which had been unselfishly devoted to the service of his community.

Dr. Wilson had been in failing health for almost two years and had retired from active practice, yet his death was unexpected and came as a shock to members of his family and his many friends throughout the county.

At Rotary Luncheon.
He had attended the weekly Rotary club luncheon at noon Monday, following which he had attended to some business matters about town. Returning home about 2 o'clock, he was sitting, talking quietly with members of his family, when he slumped over in his chair. His son, Dr. Paul Wilson, who was in his office in an adjoining room, was summoned and found that his father had passed on.

Dr. Wilson was born at North Sewickley, in Beaver county, March 25, 1866, the son of John Hayes and Elizabeth Melard Wilson. After attending grade school and high school, he entered the Western University of Pennsylvania, where he studied medicine, graduating in 1891. He prepared for his profession further as an interne at St. Francis hospital in Pittsburgh. While yet in school, he was one of the founders of Phi Beta Pi, national medical fraternity.

Began Practice In County.
He began his practice in Wampum, later removing to Mahoningtown, now the Seventh Ward, and from thence to the uptown district. Soon after starting his practice, he was married to Emma Weitz, who survives him, with three children, Mrs. Robert B. Lenhart of Buffalo.

Commutation Of Sentences Given

Life Imprisonment Supplants Death Penalty For New Jersey Pair

(International News Service)
TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 28.—The shadow of the electric chair that has hovered over Mrs. Peggy Dolbow and her lover, Norman Driscoll, lifted today.

Under sentence to die next week for the slaying of Mrs. Dolbow's husband in an attempt to collect $40,000 insurance, they were granted commutations to life imprisonment by the State Court of Pardons late yesterday in an eleventh-hour action.

The court's clemency saved Mrs. Dolbow from being the first woman ever electrocuted in New Jersey.

Counsel for the pair argued they had not received a fair trial and that a purported confession by Mrs. Dolbow was improperly introduced in evidence.

Elaborate plans have been completed by the entertainment committee of the Valley of New Castle Consistory for the annual New Year's Day party on Saturday at The Cathedral.

The program starts with moving pictures for the members and children in the afternoon at 2 o'clock.

This will be followed by dinner at 6:30 o'clock, after which there will be a program of entertainment prepared by the Beaver Valley members of the Consistory, followed by dancing.

This party is limited to Scottish Rite Masons, their immediate families and Masonic guests who accompany them. Guests must accompany the members as the doors will be closed.

Reservations must be in the hands of the committee by Thursday morning December 30.

Evacuate 45 Americans From Threatened Tsingtao

(International News Service)
SHANGHAI, Dec. 28.—Forty-five Americans were evacuated from menaced Tsingtao aboard the United States gunboat Sacramento today as rapidly advancing Japanese troops swept across Shantung province from captured Tsinan to lay siege to the important northern Chinese port.

The Americans aboard the Sacramento were expected to reach here within 48 hours. Two other United States warships, the light cruiser Marblehead and the destroyer Pope, were at anchor in Tsingtao harbor, ready to carry the remaining 255 Americans to safety as soon as the danger is acute.

Japanese authorities here said they expect Tsingtao to fall shortly.

Britain To Get Note Of Apology From Japs

International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Dec. 28.—Her quarrel with the United States over the Panay quiescent, if not closed, Japan sought today to end her controversy with London over the Japanese artillery attack on the British gunboat Ladybird in China's Yangtze river.

A formal reply to the British note of protest against the assault was handed to the British Ambassador, Sir Robert Craigie, at the Japanese foreign office late this afternoon for transmission to London.

Approved By Emperor
The reply was approved first by the cabinet. Then, as in the case of the reply to the United States regarding the bombing and sinking of the American gunboat Panay, it was approved personally by Emperor Hirohito. Foreign minister Koki Hirota submitted the reply to the palace for imperial sanction.

But, while the reply was expected to prove conciliatory, pleading an "error" and pledging precautions

LOUISE CAMPBELL THE CAMPBELL HOME MRS. CORDELIA CAMPBELL

Figures and the scene in the fatal shooting at Youngstown, O., of Mrs. Cordelia Campbell, 55, society leader and daughter-in-law of the late James Campbell, the head of the huge Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., are pictured here. Mrs. Campbell's daughter, Miss Louise Campbell, 28, was detained at nearby Warren, O., in connection with the shooting. Investigators said Mrs. Campbell, the widow of Louis Campbell, was shot when she seized a pistol in an attempt to stop her daughter from displaying her accuracy in marksmanship by shooting at a Christmas tree light. The mother was rushed to a hospital but despite blood transfusions given by the daughter, died a day later. Friends say the mother and daughter were "like sisters" and inquest that the shooting was accidental. She frequently broke down as she told her story. The coroner returned a verdict of accidental death.

Famous French Composer Dies

Death Calls Maurice Ravel, Who Will Be Remembered For His "Bolero"

(International News Service)
PARIS, Dec. 28.—Maurice Ravel, noted French composer whose "Bolero" earned him international popularity in the closing years of his life, died at his home here today after an illness of several weeks.

Ravel was 62. Equally noted as a conductor and composer, many of his works had been traditional program pieces of symphony concert programs for years, but it was not until his "Bolero" caught the popular fancy that his name became known throughout the world.

A tone poem in pure musical form, "Bolero" had the distinction of becoming a dance rhythm and ballet accompaniment that rivalled in popularity George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue".

He leaves his wife and two daughters, Mrs. George Grubb, of Titusville and Marjorie, at home.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—John A. Aiken, cashier of the First National Bank of Slippery Rock, died here today following a major operation at the Magee Elizabeth Steel hospital.

Members of the family were rushed to his bedside Sunday when his condition became critical. An oxygen tent was used in an effort to save his life.

Mr. Aiken was a 32nd Degree Mason, a member of the Grove City Blue Lodge and the New Castle Consistory.

He leaves his wife and two daughters, Mrs. George Grubb, of Titusville and Marjorie, at home.

Return Verdict Of Accident In Shooting Case

Coroner At Warren Makes Report After Investigation Of Mrs. Campbell's Death

TESTIMONY HEARD DURING MONDAY

Mother Accidentally Shot By Miss Louise Campbell Near Youngstown

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
WARREN, O., Dec. 28.—Miss Louise Campbell, 28-year-old granddaughter of a noted Mahoning Valley steel pioneer, was exonerated today in the Christmas eve fatal shooting of her mother.

Miss Campbell, who has been held in Trumbull county jail since early Christmas day, won her release when Coroner J. C. Henshaw gave his official report of "accidental death."

WARREN, O., Dec. 28.—A verdict of "accidental death" was returned today by Coroner J. C. Henshaw of Trumbull county in the fatal Christmas eve shooting of Mrs. Cordelia Campbell, 55, daughter-in-law of the late James A. Campbell, steel baron.

The coroner's brief report disclosed for the first time that Mrs. Campbell made a death-bed statement tending the shooting an accident.

Prosecutor Paul Reagan promptly issued papers for the release of Miss Louise Campbell, 28-year-old daughter of the shooting victim.

She had been detained in the county jail since early Christmas morning, shortly after she supplied blood for a transfusion for her mother.

The 26-year-old granddaughter of the late James A. Campbell, independent steel leader, had been despondent since she was placed in a cell while authorities investigated the fatal Christmas eve shooting of her mother, Mrs. Cordelia Campbell.

The young woman is heiress to the fortune of the long time president and chairman of the board of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. who died in 1933.

Tells Of Shooting
Miss Campbell, who said her grandfather taught her to use firearms and obtained a pistol permit for her in 1933, told a coroner's jury yesterday that she had taken approximately two and one-half cups of egg-nog, to which beer had been added to cut the sweetness, on the evening her mother was killed.

Authorities said she told a simple story of how she determined to return to New York and of attempts of her mother and others to dissuade her. She said she went to her room and packed, but that when she entered the car, someone had taken the keys.

Miss Campbell said she had placed her gun on the automobile seat, but that she picked it up again when her dog jumped into the car with her. She told the coroner's jury she remembered someone "saying something about keys" when her family was attempting to persuade her to stay in Warren, and went back to the house to get them.

Demanding Keys
She took her gun, she said, because she was afraid that

National Defense To Occupy Congress

Expected To Be Leading Issue

Anti-Monopoly Legislation Also Expected To Share Spotlight

SEE BIG ARMY AND NAVY FUND

By ARTHUR HACHTEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—National defense and anti-monopoly legislation today crowded for the spotlight at the session of congress beginning Monday.

As two senate committees moved to investigate charges of Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney general, that monopolies in industry are causing hard times generally, reports spread swiftly in congressional circles that President Roosevelt will recommend a substantial armament program.

Expect Foreign Relations Discussion
The president was expected on Capitol Hill to discuss foreign relations in his annual message to congress, which he will deliver in person to a joint session of the senate and house Monday.

For the Army and Navy during the next fiscal year an outlay of approximately 1,000 million dollars was anticipated. A substantial long-range program for construction of auxiliary vessels for the fleet was under preparation by the Navy department.

Congress having already authorized a Navy second to none in effectiveness, the Navy's high command has mapped a building program to replace obsolete warships and keep abreast the times in national defense. Appropriation of funds to carry out the "authorization" will be sought.

While a senate judiciary subcommittee, headed by Senator O'Mahoney (D) of Wyoming, planned to meet shortly after the session begins to consider the O'Mahoney-Borah Corporation license bill, a special senate committee on unemployment and relief also prepared to look into the monopoly issue.

tures to a minimum with compensating tax legislation provided to offset anything not in the budget.

3. Revision of the undistributed surplus profits and capital gains taxes which industry claims are stifling enterprise.

4. Revival of wage-hour legislation that was sidetracked in the recent special session.

5. Revision of the anti-trust laws along lines that will enable the department of justice and the federal trade commission to break up price-fixing monopolies. Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, in charge of the anti-trust division, forecast this recommendation in a radio address Sunday night.

To Discuss Preparedness
With the foreign situation so acute, it was believed Mr. Roosevelt would devote a good portion of his message to preparedness.

It was anticipated that the president would follow his custom of other years and withhold definite relief estimates from the budget that will be presented next week. Unemployment is mounting, according to official reports, but the executive is expected to urge congress to again cut federal contributions. This would place a greater burden on state, county and community in the matter of rehabilitation of the jobless. In some quarters, speculation has it Mr. Roosevelt will ask that $1,500,000,000 appropriated this year be reduced by the January congress to as low as $1,000,000,000.

Word came from Capitol Hill that the naval appropriation bill would be one of the first measures ready for submission to the house next week. Ordinarily the navy budget is voted later in the session but New Deal leaders have ordered it ahead because of the international situation and the need of the durable goods industries for stimulation.

A friend of the president predicted there will be much in the annual message that business men will like—and also some proposals they will not care so much about.

Mr. Roosevelt regards next week's message as his most important since 1933.

against any recurrence, it was handed to the British envoy amid undertones of what amounted almost to a Japanese wave of hate against Britain.

Hate Against Britain
This sentiment, whipped to a fever pitch by tirades against Britain in Japanese newspapers, found a new expression as a book called "Down With Britain" became a best-seller among the Nipponese.

This book, which was released by its publishers only two weeks ago, was written by Shochi Muto. Today it was announced, sales passed the 200,000 mark.

The burden of Muto's theme might be summarized thus: "Britain's interests in the Orient must be finished. Japan's troubles with China are the fault of England and the Soviets."

With such a psychological tornado sweeping Japan, neutral observers here believed, British government officials will scrutinize the Japanese note on the Ladybird attack, no matter how conciliatory it may be, with more than a little skepticism.

EVACUATE 45 AMERICANS FROM TSINGTAO

300 were awakened by the roar of gunfire, after which a Japanese landing party was reported to have launched an attack against Chinese defense positions.

Hundreds of Foreigners Remain
But for the moment the chief interest here centered on the situation at Tsingtao, where not only 255 Americans remain in the city, but where hundreds of other foreigners, of many nationalities, may be gravely endangered unless they escape before the Japanese military machine strikes the port.

Reports from the threatened city said that already all Chinese banks there are closed and all Chinese shops shuttered in anticipation of devastating fighting.

Only a few people are venturing on the streets.

The Tsingtao commissioner of police, Col. Liang Fang, said Chinese advisers, vowed he would not leave his post, but would be fighting. To prove his sincerity he drew up a will.

Meanwhile, in an attempt to check the Mikado's legions, the Chinese blew up all railroad bridges between Tsinan and Tsingtao—another example of the ruthless Chinese destruction of their own property to leave the Japanese nothing more than barren, "scorched earth."

Indications that Japan has at last begun her campaign to the south in earnest—in accordance with the "immutable decision" reached by the cabinet and imperial headquarters at Tokyo—aroused grave fears here that the drive may portend new international incidents, this time involving Britain and her crown colony of Hong Kong.

Hong Kong reports said the booming of cannon began at 5:20 a. m. and appeared to be coming from the direction of Wamung Island, 10 miles west of Macao. The island is shared in ownership by China and Portugal—a point which raises the spectre of still more international difficulties.

Seven shots were fired by heavy naval guns, the reports said, after which the Japanese landed 200 marines on the island.

Meanwhile, Chinese newspapers received here claimed a "second batch" of United States volunteers—including ten World War majors and ninety airplane pilots—are now en route to Hankow to join the Chinese air force.

These papers predicted that within a few months foreign volunteers will have reached such numbers that China will be able to contest Japan's supremacy in the air.

The added Chinese high command plans to raise 30,000 aviators within the coming year, and that 10,000 of these will be ready for active service by March.

These newspaper reports strengthened other advice that China's high command is preparing a "grand counter-offensive" aimed at smashing the Nipponese invasion with the aid of other newly-arrived war equipment, much of which is said to have come from Soviet Russia.

At the same time, opening up the possibility of a sequel to the now famous Panay incident, the United States gunboat Oahu set sail from Shanghai up the Yangtze river on a double mission.

The trim American war craft will head for Hoshan, scene of the sinking of the Panay, where salvaging operation are expected to determine once and for all time whether the American gunboat sent to the bottom by Nipponese bombs also was machine gunned by Japanese military launches.

In addition, the Oahu is carrying enough American officials to permit the United States embassy at Nanking to be reopened if conditions permit. A few days ago, Japanese authorities asked American officials to leave the embassy closed for the time being.

John Charles Bannon.

John Charles Bannon, six-weeks-old son of Clayton M. and Ruth Leyda Bannon of 6 West Leasure avenue, died in the Jameson Memorial hospital at 9 o'clock, Monday night.

The infant was born November 17 in this city and was a member of the First Baptist Cradle Roll. He leaves his parents, a sister, Barbara, a brother, Clayton Robert, and three grandparents, B. R. Leyda of Oil City and Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Bannon of New Castle.

Private services will be conducted at the residence Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 with Dr. C. H. Heatn, the First Baptist minister, in charge. Interment will be in Oak Park cemetery.

Funeral Of Mrs. Smith.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Smith, wife of Samuel Smith, of Diamond, O. R. D. victim of a tragic accident last week, were conducted at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from the Rich Hill Presbyterian church near Volant. A former pastor, Rev. C. M. Rohrbaugh, now in Ohio, and the present pastor, Rev. King Kerr, were in charge.

Palbearers were Earl Welker, Alvin Carter, Ed. Carter, Robert Barron, Charles Corman and Theron Carr. Interment was made in the church cemetery.

Pacific Northwest Is Lashed By Gale

Driving Rain Storms Block Many Roads in Vicinity Of Portland, Ore.

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 28.—Roaring in from the sea, winter gales yesterday lashed the Pacific northwest, crippling communications and disrupting air and highway travel.

One seaman was washed overboard and lost when the gales hit the Panamanian motorship Beulah which limped into Victoria, B. C. yesterday listing at a 31 degree angle.

Driving rain storms blocked many roads in the vicinity of Portland and numerous washouts were reported along the Astoria-Portland highway after a 4.47 inch rainfall.

Astoria was completely cut off from the outside world early today, but no fear was felt for its inhabitants. Efforts to restore communications with the town proved futile in the torrential downpour.

because 20,000 Chinese troops are scattered in the vicinity of Nanking and Wuhu.

The Japanese claimed the Panay was sunk by accident while Nipponese war planes were attempting to rid the area of all Chinese.

Meanwhile, there was considerable speculation as to whether the American officials voyaging aboard the Oahu would be permitted to reopen the United States embassy at Nanking and give the outside world the first authentic account of conditions in the city under Japanese rule.

PLAN HEARING AT WARREN, PA.

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—The National Labor Relations Board announced today it will hold a hearing January 4 at Warren, Pa., into charges the Pennsylvania Furnace and Iron company, of Warren, violated the Wagner Labor Act by dismissal of 21 workers. The charges were brought by the A. F. of L. International Association of Machinists.

TEACHERS MUST EXPECT CHANGES IN TENURE ACT

draws, superintendent of Carbonale schools and former president of the association, and Charles W. Potter, Jersey Shore supervising principal.

The Teachers' Tenure Law passed by the 1937 General Assembly, prohibits dismissal of teachers without "due cause," as in cases of incompetency, inefficiency and immorality. Several court tests of the law are listed for argument in the State Supreme Court with the PSEA joining in the fight.

Many Are Misfits
"We, of the association, should not go on record as protecting a teacher regardless of circumstances. We'll have many people dropped out of the profession without any noise at all, because they are misfits," Miss Andrews asserted.

She assured in her convention address, however, that the association had no intention of backing down in its stand against the court battle to have the law declared unconstitutional and praised the "many benefits" already accruing through the act.

Supporting the assertions of the former association head, Potter declared that "any law which would give unrestricted protection to incompetents would engender a revulsion of feeling against the law."

The convention was to elect officers today although the results of the balloting will not be announced until the closing sessions tomorrow. Dr. J. Frank Faust, Chambersburg, Aelfric James, Sr., Easton, and Reuben T. Shaw, Philadelphia, have been nominated for the presidency. Scranton and York have bid for the 1938 sessions.

Dr. Lester K. Ade, state superintendent of public instruction, will address the opening of the general sessions late this afternoon. Department and divisional conferences occupied the attention of the delegates during the earlier part of the day.

the dog would discharge it. Entering the room where her mother was wrapping Christmas packages, she demanded the keys to her car. Miss Campbell testified, Mrs. Uretta Branch, of London, and Lucius Cochran, a friend from Youngstown were there also.

Miss Campbell testified she asked for the keys but that no one paid any attention to her. "Then I had a sudden foolish idea," she declared. "I wanted to attract attention, so I leveled the pistol at the candles two feet away and fired."

"Mother cried 'Louise' and ran toward me. She tried to take the pistol away from me. There was a shot and she fell to the floor. I was dazed and didn't know what had happened...."

"I guess I won't ever want to see a pistol or gun of any kind again," Miss Campbell cried as she tried to hold back tears.

Mrs. Campbell died of a bullet wound in the abdomen shortly after receiving a blood transfusion from her daughter.

Funeral services for Mrs. Campbell will be conducted at Warren today.

Report Man Is Attacked By Dog

Harry Kenehan, Cascade Street, Reported To Police As Victim Of Dog

Harry Kenehan, Cascade street, early today, while enroute to his place of employment, was attacked by a dog owned by Albert Burkhart, 1235 Melrose avenue. It was a shepherd dog. The attack occurred in a field near that section. Kenehan received medical attention, according to a report made to police.

Meanwhile, police are searching for other victims of a dog owned by Frank Arket, West Pittsburg, which ran amuck from Friday night until killed Sunday afternoon. A man and boy were attacked.

According to a report received this morning by Sergeant James P. Steiner at police headquarters, the West Pittsburg police dog also bit a dog owned by Joseph Frenkel, at Moravia street and the West Pittsburg road Sunday morning. They have tied the dog for observation purposes.

The head of the slain police dog was sent to Harrisburg for examination for rabies. If the examination shows the dog had rabies the patients no doubt will receive the Pasteur treatment.

According to Dr. William L. Steen, the symptoms of the result of a hydrophobia affected dog usually appear on humans within three to six weeks following an attack, unless the Pasteur treatment is given.

Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell is anxious to receive all possible information concerning persons or dogs which were attacked by the police dog, or other dogs during the past few days.

Due to the scare that has prevailed, owners of dogs, not only on the South Side, but in other sections of the city and West Pittsburg district have tied their dogs to keep them from being infected by any dog that may have been attacked by the police dog.

The city dog catcher reported that he took six dogs into custody yesterday and of those captured previously he killed and disposed of.

Potter Planning No Changes Soon

For the present at least, Register and Recorder-elect Orville Potter will make no changes in the personnel of the office he declared today.

"It seems to me to be poor business to announce sweeping changes in an office before the office holder knows what it is all about," said Mr. Potter.

"The work of Register and Recorder will be new to me, while to the deputies now in office the work is familiar. For that reason I expect to make no changes for the present in order that the work of the office may be continued in the same efficient way it has."

Weather conditions of the past week have been anything but the best for unimproved roads and streets. The bottom seems to be dropping out of these highways.

CALIFORNIA NEWS OF INTEREST HERE

Word has been received here of the marriage of Mrs. Florence McConnell and Charles Hickey, the ceremony taking place on Wednesday, December 15, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, at Long Beach, Cal.

The principals are both well known here, she being the wife of the late Rev. William McConnell of New Castle. Mr. Hickey resided at Rochester, Pa., until eighteen years ago, when he moved to Long Beach, Cal., where he is now a retired business man.

Mr. and Mrs. Hickey just returned to their California home, following a two weeks' trip to Palm Springs.

CRAWFORD OAKRIDGE KIDDIES GIVEN PARTY

Little tots in sleepers, ready for bed, and older ones too, who are being cared for at the Crawford Oakridge home, were tendered a grand party Friday night, when the Shriners of Pittsburgh at this time provided each with a gift which they wanted most to find on their Christmas tree. The occasion was the annual party given by the youngsters by the local Quota club members.

Representing the Pittsburgh Shriners organization, jolly old Santa Claus in the person of Ed. Brown, claimed the attention of his little guests. He chatted with them, and distributed the gifts as each name was called. Rounding off the evening's festivities, he told delightful Christmas stories, and later, all joined in singing Christmas carols. Mrs. Orta Snyder presided at the piano.

Quota members served refreshments, which were attractive as well as tasty, the appointments being in keeping with the holiday season. Santa bid the young ones good night, standing by the brilliantly decorated tree, and later he slipped up the stairs and tucked them in.

The Shriners of Pittsburgh have built up a reputation for spreading cheer in many children's institutions, such as the Crawford-Oakridge, at holiday time. At Christmas, they receive lists of gifts that each tot wants at the various homes in this part of the state, and they in turn, supply the exact gifts, marking a part of their charity program for the year.

Rainbow Girls Yule Dance At Cathedral Attracts Many

Even though the weather be as "blackable as a blackable winter's night", as old Santa Claus would say, this fact didn't interfere with the outstanding success of the Order of Rainbow for Girls, New Castle Assembly No. 1, dance, which was held in the crystal ballroom of the Scottish Rite Cathedral on Monday evening.

The local Rainbow Girls have always been successful with their frolics, and this occasion, which is held annually in the Cathedral, was one of the largest events of its kind undertaken. The main ballroom being filled to capacity by dancers, the doors to the main dining room were thrown open and also used throughout the evening to accommodate the large assemblage.

Attired in their "swingle" frocks showing what was being worn by the young ladies this season, the girls made an appealing picture as they danced about the ballroom to a program of music provided by a prominent out-of-town orchestra. This took place amidst a gay holiday setting, the rooms being transformed into a lifelike fairyland, with bright colored Yule decorations.

MRS. S. P. FOLTZ IS FIELD CLUB HOSTESS

Tomorrow afternoon, Wednesday, December 29, women members of the New Castle Field club will be entertained in their club rooms at a dessert-bridge party with Mrs. S. P. Foltz presiding in the role of hostess.

Activities will begin at the usual time, 1:15 o'clock, with the serving. Cards will provide the entertainment afterwards, with prizes being awarded those winning honors.

JAMESON-SHENANGO NURSES ALUMNA MEETS

Jameson-Shenango Nurses Alumnae members met in the Solarium of the Jameson Memorial hospital on Monday evening in regular session. President Mrs. Oscar Levine presided.

Routine business was transacted and a complete report was contributed by Miss Elizabeth Taylor on the meeting she attended recently at Pittsburgh, concerning the nurses of District Six.

At their next gathering at the hospital on Monday, January 24, election of officers will take place.

HOLIDAY GUESTS AT LEASURE AVENUE HOMES

Dr. and Mrs. George R. Cunningham of Killarney, W. Va., spent Christmas with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Nesbit and Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Cunningham, all of Leasure avenue.

Other guests at the Cunningham home were their daughter and son-in-law, Attorney and Mrs. William B. Largent, of Morgantown, W. Va., and another son, Charles Cunningham, also of Morgantown.

Agnes Schaeade Society.
At a lovely meeting of the Agnes Schaeade Missionary society of St. Paul's Lutheran church on Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Catherine Paulini, 1014 Beckford street, the following officers were elected to serve during '38:

President, Mrs. Jennie Kotchish; vice president, Miss Elizabeth Dietterle; treasurer, Mrs. Sarah Nickum.

Mrs. Joseph S. Eve was the associate hostess of the evening. A tasty lunch was served at a table decorated in a beautiful and tasteful manner, poinsettias in the center.

The hostess prize went to Mrs. John Morrissey. Special guests were Mrs. Walter Haug of Butler and Mrs. Carl Leis of Cleveland, formerly of this city.

On January 27 the society plans a pilgrimage to the Butler home of Mrs. Haug for the regular meeting.

Mrs. Davies' Class
Twelve boys from Mrs. O. J. Davies' Sunday school class of Croton Avenue M. E. church gathered at the home of their teacher, Martin street, for a Christmas party, Monday evening.

Gifts were exchanged and all had a merry time. The boys received gifts from their teacher; they had a surprise gift in store for Mrs. Davies also, and presented it in an impressive manner. Lunch was served around a beautiful Christmas tree.

Games were played and George Jackson won the prize.

It was a delightful evening for everyone. These parties have been enjoyed for six or seven years past by Mrs. Davies' class.

M. P. W. Club
M. P. W. club members will meet in their club room on the New Bedford road on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Mildred Womeldorf, Mary Osler, and Elsie Pugh will be hostesses. After the business session, there will be bingo for members and friends.

Mahoning Book Change
Members of the Mahoning Book club will meet Thursday afternoon at one o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. F. Toepfer, Hazelcroft avenue, instead of with Mrs. David Mackey, Winter avenue, as previously announced.

GOOD NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION

EVEN under the most favorable circumstances, the new year will be filled with tragedy. Life is like that. Each succeeding day brings its full measure of sorrow. The best that people can do about it is to try through every means at their command to keep down the volume.

Thousands of children will be killed in the nation's streets during the year of 1938, about to begin under bright and happy auspices. Thousands of mothers and fathers will be killed. Multitudes will be maimed. The whole course of lives will be altered tragically. And the tragedy will be given emphasis by the circumstance that much of it could be avoided through simple precautions.

Aside from natural causes, the motor car is the most deadly agency of human destruction in the United States. This is so, however, only when the human element at the wheel is drunk, reckless or incompetent. The new year is still ahead and it is not too late for good resolutions.

Here is one which, if made and kept, will preserve many lives and save the world from a great deal of human misery: As a driver I will drive as carefully as I expect others to drive. As a pedestrian I will walk as carefully as I expect others to walk when I am driving. And I will not drink and drive.

AFRICA GROWS DULL

Africa is becoming much less interesting, says Windsor T. White, a returning game hunter. It's too civilized.

"For one thing," he complains, "natives are wearing more clothes. That may help business but doesn't add to the interest of the country. It isn't picturesque."

Even the animals seem less interesting. There are so many of them, and they are so approachable. In a couple of weeks' travel he saw 50,000 to 100,000 zebras, antelope and other circus beasts. Great herds of them roam the plains as our buffaloes used to.

It must spoil the illusion, too, when you travel almost anywhere by airplane or motor car. Mr. White covered 7,000 miles by automobile. Other travelers have reported that it's a common thing now to shoot lions from an auto.

Anyway, there's still some glamor there for us stay-at-homes, and the specimens are interesting. But to our children or grandchildren, a horse or cow or pig may attract as much attention in the zoo as these African importations.

GRAY HAIRS VERSUS VALUE

Much thought is being given locally and throughout the country today to the problem of employment for men and women over 40 years of age.

Due to restrictive state and federal regulations, industry hesitates to grant employment to adults past their forties. Yet age has no relation to productive powers, except perhaps in the case of labor, where physical ruggedness is a necessity. A recent survey of a sales managers' organization revealed that many responsible sales organizations regard the man or woman over 40 as a better salesman—not so fast as a younger person, but more reliable.

The American Legion, recognizing that the average veteran is about 45, is now engaged in an effort to place such men in positions for which they are fitted. In New York, a national campaign has been launched by the "Over 40 Project" to educate employers to the possibilities of workers over that age.

With the birth rate falling, the number of older people will naturally increase in ratio to those of younger age. Employers might do well some times to recognize that ability, combined with age and experience, often will meet their needs better than youth, brawn and energy.

BUSINESS AT SCHOOL

Results of a business quiz sent out by Dun and Bradstreet show a surprising knowledge of economic facts by professional men. The thirty questions comprising the test included what would be considered "shop talk" by financial and business men and yet some doctors made higher scores than some business men and no banker or executive turned in a perfect paper. The quiz was heavily weighted with tax and general problems which are agitating the business world at the present time, and it is a surprise to find that the tabulators consider that a score of 75 on the basis of 100 is exceptional.

It would be rash to generalize on the basis of the returns of an informal questionnaire, but the sampling would seem to indicate a lack of information in the business world about many essential problems. Business men sometimes work on a day to day basis and are mainly interested in those matters which have direct bearing on the day's profits. On questions which appear on the wider business horizon, many possess only scant knowledge.

Such a limited view is unfortunate. Never before in our history was business more vitally dependent on the course of general legislation. If the sound demands of economic leaders at Washington are not backed up by an informed and interested following, their influence may be lessened at a time when it is vital to the public welfare.

A GREAT AMERICAN

The life of Frank B. Kellogg, which drew to an end only a few days ago, is an everlasting challenge to the individual who, imagines that his handicaps are too much for him. Few men began life under greater difficulties than he. Fortune forgot him in his early days. Yet he ascended to a place of importance not alone in his own nation but as a citizen of the world.

Frank B. Kellogg was kept so busy on his father's Minnesota farm that he never had a chance to attend high school or college. His formal education ended with what is equivalent to our eighth grade today. In his spare time he read law. Finally he was admitted to the bar. His start was slow. But eventually came the day when he sat as a member of the United States Senate, then in the cabinet of President Coolidge and finally as a judge of the Court of International Justice.

A person can forge just about as far ahead as he wants to go, handicaps or not. Frank B. Kellogg aimed high. What he lacked in formal education he obtained by dint of his own efforts. And, he became one of the best informed and one of the most able men in all the world. He achieved what no other man ever attempted in persuading the great powers to sign a treaty renouncing war. That many of these nations have not lived up to it is no discredit to the memory of Mr. Kellogg. He performed a great work and his fame may well rest upon it.

He was another truly great American.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TOO MUCH RELIGIOUS ZEAL

Missionary zeal is one of the tenets of the Christian religion, of all great religions, indeed. Those who to it feel impelled to try to win others to it—a normal and worthy motive.

"Personal work" is a term familiar to most members of Protestant churches. But is it not true that, because of the way in which some very conscientious, pious persons set out to do "personal work," to win other individuals to their particular brand of faith, they may, and often do, repel rather than attract those very persons they wish most to win? And this often applies to parents and children. Besides, many children come to lose interest in and respect for the church of their parents who will make it a practice to "preach" to other children coming to the home, these parents attempting "to convert" these young guests.

And how embarrassing it is for the adolescent boy or girl when to a friend he or she brings to the home a parent will begin to talk religion under the guise of doing "personal work"? Now the religious experiences or faith of the young guest may have been wholly different from that "preached" by these parents.

Belittle Other Faiths
So often the excessive zeal of the over-pious parent prompts him or her to say things which imply a belittling or condemnation of the religion of the visiting child or his parents. Some parents are indiscreet enough to indulge in such behavior with adult guests, though many who would exercise better manners with grown-ups will not restrain themselves with children. Wouldn't it be wonderful if all of us parents would exercise as good manners toward our children and their young friends as we try to exercise toward other adults? When we shall have so achieved in our conduct, we will have advanced tremendously in culture.

Anyway, we all ought to know that we win no one to any belief by offending him by taking a holier-than-thou attitude toward him. If conscientious parents who are zealous about their religion only knew, they would put their faith in success at winning others to their particular brand of religion through proving in a quiet, inoffensive manner, living hour by hour and day by day in the family and outside of it, that their religion makes them more lovable and agreeable to be with. And as I understand the philosophy of Jesus, these suggestions are entirely in accord with it. What do you think?

GOT A SENSE OF HUMOR?

Perhaps you have. I would not know.

Perhaps you just think you have. It may be that your sense of humor hasn't been tested. When it is, you'll find out soon enough whether it's the real thing—or skin milk that masquerades as cream.

For a sense of humor isn't just a light-hearted companion for days of fortune; it is armor, it is courage, it's the re-enforcing steel of the character with which you face the world.

And maybe you've got a sense of humor and maybe you haven't.

I'm not so certain about myself, either. Once or twice I've thought I had one. Once a traffic officer bawled me out and right in the middle of my lecture I heard myself laughing inside—at me, red-faced and angry; at me, meek and taking it on the chin like a docile citizen.

There was another time when I was furious and thought of having a man arrested. But I didn't. At the last moment everything seemed funny, and I knew how ridiculous the whole thing was; how laughable it would be for me to swear out a warrant and bring another man into court on a trivial charge because he'd done me a small injury and hurt my pride of ownership. So I didn't do it.

And so for a few days I was proud of myself and went around praising me because I had a sense of humor.

But I'm not so confident that I possess a Sense of Humor. If I did have one, I wouldn't let life get me down. I'd laugh at gloom, I'd chuckle at fate. I'd smile more at the nagging irritations of life.

So would you. So do you, if you have a true Sense of Humor. Because, if I know anything at all, I'm sure that a Sense of Humor isn't just laughing at jokes, telling

Dear Miss Markel—Kindly do me a favor by devoting one day's issue to your opinion of young people who park for hours in front of the house before the final, painful good night. I have spoken to my niece who is the guilty one but she resents my intrusion upon her personal rights.

She is 24 years old and has just recently come to live with me. She reads your column regularly and perhaps your diplomacy will be effective where I've failed.

WORRIED.
Answer—This is a falling among many young people, and it is the fault of modern invention. In the horse-and-buggy days young lovers could not have so conveniently sat outside for hours. Common horse sense would have impelled their motive power to object. But today we have in our automobiles soft-cushioned seats, heaters and radios and more privacy.

Ah, there's the rub! Give your niece a sitting room or parlor in which she may, without family intrusion, entertain her friends and perhaps she will find it necessary to sit outside for hours in her beau's automobile.

What chance has a man to "pop the question" or even become acquainted with the entire family as his audience. . . . Little brother doing his lessons audibly and the radio blaring out mother's favorite serial story. There ought to be a law against houses with one general sitting room.

Absent yourselves from the living room on beau nights and give your niece a chance with her young man. If, after that, she continues this parking habit, read the "riot act" to her cavalier who will well deserve it.

Tomorrow—Living Room Color Scheme.

Roosevelt To Turn To New Deal.
May Try To Salvage Program.
Wheeler Turns Up Sensations.By LESLIE EICHEL,
Central Press Columnist

WHEN CONGRESS returns for the regular session beginning Jan. 3, President Roosevelt is expected to return once more to the New Deal. Possibly so. He may have arrived at the belief that he cannot move congress into action except by militantly exposing the cause of the mass of people.

The president is said to be preparing a militant restatement of his politics and hopes. He will make this restatement in a message to congress and over the radio.

Congress almost proved a case for dictatorship in its special session—if one can judge by the murmurs of the people. And just when the world needs a lesson in more democracy and the functioning of democracy.

The executive branch of the American government has been functioning well—but the legislative branch has given itself over to lethargy, obstructionism, pork barrelism and reaction. Congress, instead of taking a strong forward, independent attitude, has tried to turn the hands of the clock back and has given itself over to interests which speak "democracy" but practice the opposite. That is the view one hears among the mass of people.

Even the manifesto, drawn up by Senator Vandenberg, Republican of Michigan, and Senator Bailey, anti-New Deal Democrat, of North Carolina, and extolled by a coalition, as a program which would put the country and business on their feet, seems upon sober second reading to be nothing more than another effort among the many, to turn the clock back.

THE LEADERS?

Evidently President Roosevelt has decided that he must revert to liberals in the senate for leadership, if he is to salvage the remainder of his program.

That involves a danger to him in a party sense, if he desires to guide toward a successor. The successor may not be a Democrat.

When the special session of congress adjourned, the president called to the White House for a conference Senators La Follette of Wisconsin, Wagner of New York, Norris of Nebraska, Minton of Indiana, Schwellenbach of Washington, Green of Rhode Island, Brown of New Hampshire and Pepper of Florida.

The chief presidential timber in that group is La Follette—and he is a Progressive, and independent. He never has been a Democrat. The others, with the exception of Norris, are Democrats, but it is questionable whether they could win the Democratic presidential nomination. (Continued On Page Seven)

"THINGS TO WEAR"

Things to wear, of ribbons gay.
Bits of silks and satins pink!
Now the dolls are put away.
What must any father think
When the Christmas Day has gone
And the parlor floor is bare
Of the toys once looked upon.
Leaving only "things to wear"?

Now they come to see her gifts
On a table richly spread,
Handkerchiefs and prett' shifts,
Fancy trifles for her head;
Scent in bottles, bracelet gay
Such as women love to share
And I hear her playmates say:
"Oh, such lovely things to wear!"

Where's the little girl we had
Just one fleeting year ago?
Where's the doll to make her glad
That is what I want to know.
Where's the game we used to play
And the fuzzy Teddy bear?
And I hear the mother say:
"All she asked was 'things to wear.'"

Though to credit it I'm loath,
Childhood from our home has gone.
This is what is known as growth,
Scarcely noticed coming on.
Well, the change was bound to be!
Now I own a lovely pair—
Two fair champions telling me
All they want are things to wear.

TUESDAY, DEC. 28

Once Upon Dec. 28th—This month, which brought the birthday of the Wright brothers' airplane, also, marks the anniversary of the first flight made in America. On Dec. 28, 1783, a balloon constructed by David Rittenhouse and Francis Hopkinson ascended at Philadelphia, with James Wilcox, light-weight carpenter, whom the builders paid to be the first passenger.

Wilcox quickly became scared, and punctured the gas chambers, one by one, so that the balloon remained up only 10 minutes.

Rittenhouse, self-taught astronomer and State treasurer of Pennsylvania, and Hopkinson, author of the historic "Battle of the Kegs" and judge of admiralty for Pennsylvania, have never received just credit as American air pioneers. Many histories err in stating that the first balloon flight on this continent was that made 10 years later, Jan. 9, 1793, by Pierre Blanchard, visiting Frenchman, in the presence of President Washington and other notables.

The Rittenhouse-Hopkinson balloon went up the same year, and only two months later, than the first recorded flight by man, in France.

It may have been that Benjamin

Franklin's letters from abroad had something to do with getting his friends Rittenhouse and Hopkinson interested in aircraft, or it may have been that the French and American inventors worked out the same idea simultaneously without knowing of each others' efforts. That has happened often in the history of invention.

Franklin witnessed the first flights in France, and wrote that they were a "discovery of great importance, and which may possibly give a new turn to human affairs. . . . Convincing sovereigns of the folly of wars, may perhaps be one effect of it. . . . Five thousand balloons, capable of raising two men each, would not cost more than five vans of the line. And where is the country with troops for its defense, as that ten thousand men descending from the clouds, might not in many places do an infinite mischief before a force could be brought together to repel them?"

WASHINGTON—Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney general, blames "monopolists" for economic ills.

"The only way to insure a reasonably steady well-being for the nation as a whole is for government to act as an impartial overseer of our industrial progress, ready at all times to call a halt to monopolistic practices which threaten to throw our economy out of order."

INDIANAPOLIS—Dr. Walter L. Bruetsch of Indiana university medical school links insanity to rheumatism.

"Until now it was believed that a rheumatic infection is only responsible for damaged hearts, muscles and joints. The damage to the brain resulting in a crippled mind is an even more serious complication of this rather common disease."

WASHINGTON—Senator Harry Byrd (D) of Virginia warns against the administration's proposal to eliminate the office of controller general.

This proposal to give the spending branch of the government a free hand with upward of eight billions of dollars a year, strikes viciously at the vital elements of good government, good business and welfare."

HOLLYWOOD—Gene Lockhart, prominent stage and film comedian, returns from a Broadway success.

SCHUSTER HAS HUGE LIBRARY

By O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Quite a number of show people have fled from Broadway but are no further away than these peaceful New Jersey and Long Island suburbs with spreading lawns, tree-lined streets and block after block of houses as alike as candies in a box.

The recent passing of Edna Leedman, the comedienne, is a striking illustration. She was as much a part of the showy strip as Fannie Brice today. A frequent patron of the bright cafes and often with the gang at Reuben's when the sun was casting a beary eye over the island.

Then news one day of her marriage and the Rialto saw her no more. It developed that all the while she was living in nearby Jackson Heights, going to market daily, attending meetings of the women's clubs, and rearing a child. Jessie Reed, noted Follies beauty, vanished similarly.

Alice Poole, Ziegfeld's famous telephone girl, has a list of stage beauties of other days who did not marry the millionaire and wind up in the psychiatric ward. But who rather married white collar workers and lived happily ever after.

Frequently the mail brings letters from old troupers in southern California or Florida who stress a living cheerfulness they profess not to know existed. All their professional lives were cast in cheap hotels, raffish dressing rooms and sleeper jumps. They express the gratitude of freed slaves—and never want to see the big town again. Or so they say.

The young publisher, M. Lincoln Schuster, is said to have the slickest of the private libraries. To accommodate some 10,000 volumes of his bibliophile treasures he built a Georgian wing to his house at Seacliffe, L. I. It is air conditioned and shelves are lit by independent lighting. But the very gee whizz in private library elegance was expressed by the now broke Duke of Manchester in his opulent days. He had a night librarian, on duty to bring any volume desired if his Grace had a sleepless hour or so and felt like reading.

Anyone watching cartoonists at work will agree it's the most grueling professional grinds. More than most creative workers, they have difficulty taking off even after they have settled on an idea. For every cartoon is a dozen or so approaches, and often they make innumerable drafts before hitting upon one they like. Cartoonists invariably sit at drawing boards during the period of gestation. They cannot walk and ruminate as the writer or sculptor. Thus for hours they stew in their own juice until they strike their gait—then they often finish the job in an hour. Most cartoonists I have known take an oath almost weekly they will never draw another cartoon.

Homer Davenport was said to be the most sensitive to reader reaction of the limners. If the managing editor did not show immediate approval of his completed stints for the day he would snatch it away and tear it to bits, but with no show of anger. He would merely go to work and produce another, believing a cartoon's province was to please by a glance. If it did not catch the editor's eye thus he did not think it would the reader's. Incidentally, three of America's most gifted cartoonists—Webster, Ding and Tad—have, during their careers, learned to draw with their left hands after their rights through accidents or over-strain went back on them.

They never learn note: Sam Byrd, cast so long as the nit-wit hotsam of white trash in "Tobacco Road," took his several years' earnings and lost them in a quixotic theatrical venture of his own. Again he has a similar role in a play destined for a long run, "Of Mice and Men." And already, as his weekly salary piles up, he is making plans to invest it in another similar venture.

The sum total of my ambitious through life centered on cumulating, so the other callings have had slight appeal. I have stuck to my last. Yet I invariably suffer a vague discontent when a tap dancer rat-a-tats off the stage to a burst of applause.

Faella Had Eventful Career As Policeman

There are seven men who are on the police retired list—among them being Nick Faella, who had 21 years police service here and who often was called upon to use his knowledge of a foreign language to help bring wrong-doers to justice. In fact, Faella's knowledge was considered so valuable that upon several occasions he was sent from the city to track down persons. One of the trips took him into Canada.

Faella was born in the province of Naples, Italy, and first saw the United States in 1887. He secured employment and at one time operated a shoeshop across from the city building. This was in 1896. He worked in the wire and nail mill and when A. D. Newell, mayor in 1916, named Faella to the police force, the latter operated a grocery store.

It was on a cold night in January, 1916, that Faella made his first patrol. In fact, the snow was more than ankle deep and it was a real try-out for Faella. Despite the cold and the depth of the snow he decided that he would like the job as he tramped the snow in the fifth and eighth wards. He worked in that section more than four years. During that time he had many experiences. He was called upon to help investigate practically all of the unwarranted actions which turned up in that section. He arrested hold-up men, helped hunt persons who participated in shooting affrays and also arrested persons who wielded knives.

Upon one occasion the police searched for a man who slashed another with a knife. The man fled the city. Faella was assigned to the investigation. He went home, changed from his uniform to plain clothes and went to Ohio. Three hours after his arrival at Youngstown he arrested the man, who was brought here, convicted and punished.

On another occasion a woman victimized some professional men to the amount of $6,000. She fled. Faella got up and M. J. Young, who was police chief at that time, ordered Faella to "keep on the case." The investigation took Faella to Toronto, Ont. There he found the woman had fled.

Faella traced the woman to Rochester, N. Y., and was about to go there when he received orders of a situation considered worse here. His knowledge of conditions was desired, hence his return.

On another occasion, while patrolling at night in the first ward, he possibly saved the life of Officer James Wynner when one of two colored men, stopped by Wynner for questioning, pointed a revolver at Wynner. Faella had followed the men, without their knowledge, and happened on the critical scene at the time.

Faella was retired on pension in January, this year, having reached the age of 65 years and 21 years service.

Japanese Action Threatens Extra-Territorial Rights At Shanghai

By ROBERT G. NIXON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—No sooner had tension been relieved over the Panay bombing when a new incident arose which threatened to bring a new and severe strain on relations between the United States and Japan.

Threatening foreign extra-territorial rights, including those of the United States, Japanese military authorities at Shanghai announced that military courts will be set up to deal with any offenses against Japanese military forces. These courts would supersede the extra-territorial courts maintained by the United States and other treaty powers under treaty agreements with China.

The American government, however, will insist upon strict observation by Japan of all rights, including those of extra-territoriality. It was emphasized in official circles. Secretary of state Cordell Hull declined comment on the situation for the moment, stating that he had no advice as yet would enable him fully to discuss the situation.

But it was pointed out on responsible authority that any such breach by Japan would be interpreted as breaking the promise of guarantees to observe strictly American rights and interests in China, made in Japan's sweeping apology over the Panay bombing.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—A tiny, tawdry Christmas tree with its few cheap ornaments shattered lay on its side today in the three-room apartment of Mrs. Grace Packer.

Once it had brightened the blue eyes of three-year-old Richard Packer who died a very young hero. Richard awoke in his crib and smelled a sharp, unpleasant odor. He called for his mother but there was no answer. His cries awakened his little brother, Charles, who is one year old.

Richard explored. He knocked over his Christmas tree but kept on going. In the kitchen he found his mother sitting before the stove. She was very quiet. The strange, unpleasant odor was coming from the open door of the oven.

The tot pulled at the dress of his mother to waken her. She did not pay any attention. Then Richard pulled away frantically until mother fell off the chair.

Richard called loudly for help and got as far as the living room where they found his body.

Oxygen tanks could not save Richard or his mother, but Charles the one-year-old, was revived, so Richard did not die in vain.

Mrs. Packer was estranged from her husband. She had begun a Christmas note to him and then stopped.

Rev. Joshua H. Miller Will Make Home Here

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Former president Machado of Cuba was freed Monday of all extradition proceedings brought against him by the Cuban government and was discharged from custody of the United States government.

Machado had been charged with mass murder and embezzlement.

Rev. Miller, 42 years a minister of the Gospel, has held just two pastorates, that of St. John's in New Castle and Holy Trinity in Irwin. He was at Holy Trinity for the past 20 years. In accepting his resignation his congregation bestowed upon him an unusual honor by electing him pastor emeritus. Numerous farewell parties are being given in honor of the departing pastor and his wife.

Rev. Miller attended Muhlenburg college and Mt. Airy Theological seminary from which he was graduated in 1896. He was ordained to the Lutheran ministry in June of the same year.

His life work was not alone confined to ministerial duties but he was quite active in other capacities as well. He served as trustee of Thiel college from 1913 to 1918; trustee of the Mt. Airy Theological seminary since 1934; and trustee of the Bethesda Orphans home in Meadville since 1918. He was a member of the committee of education, Pittsburgh Synod; president of the Greensburg conference; and was a member of the executive committee of the Pittsburgh Synod of the Lutheran church from 1920 to 1928.

He was also a member of the S. A. R.; an honorary member of the G. A. R.; and an Eagle scout. He is the author of the book, "Bible of Nature and Bible of Grace."

The date January 2, chosen by Rev. Miller for his retirement, holds unusual significance inasmuch as that date is also his birthday and closely approximates the date of his first appearance in the local church as its pastor twenty years ago.

He leaves a harmonious and debt-free congregation.

In addition to the bright overblouse, the one-piece dress with entire bodice in bright color is popular for wear with the two-third and three-quarter coats.

Administration Instructs House Leaders To Defeat Ludlow War Bill

Want To Demonstrate To World That Majority In Congress Not In Favor

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The administration has instructed house leaders to seek defeat of the Ludlow War Referendum amendment on its first test vote, Jan. 10, to demonstrate to the world that a majority in congress is against the proposal.

This was disclosed Monday by a high-ranking congressional leader who pictured the administration's position on the legislation to be this:

1. That American prestige, particularly in the current international situation, received a setback when 218 house members, a majority signed a petition to force the proposed constitutional amendment to a vote three weeks hence.

2. That the administration is confident it could easily must the strength to block the two-thirds house vote required to approve an amendment to the constitution, but this might fail to erase the "embarrassment" of a simple majority of the lower chamber favoring the referendum plan.

3. That the amendment must be defeated by a decisive simple majority when the house observes the parliamentary rules and votes Jan. 10 on whether or not to consider the measure.

Unfavorable Position

"This nation cannot be put in the position of having a majority of its house of representatives favoring a referendum on war," the congressional spokesman said.

"The best possible place to demonstrate to the world that the house does not favor the amendment is to refuse on a record vote to consider it further."

The proposal has been denounced by Secretary of State Hull and opposed by President Roosevelt. Senator Pittman (D) Nevada, and Rep. McReynolds (D) Tennessee, charged man of the senate and house foreign relations committees, respectively, have scored it.

The opposition achieved bi-partisan proportions when Former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, the 1936 G.O.P. presidential candidate, telegraphed Mr. Roosevelt congratulations on his stand against the proposed amendment.

Duke Of Windsor Will Meet King Of Belgians Soon

(International News Service)

VIENNA, Dec. 2.—King Leopold of the Belgians and the Duke of Duchs of Windsor will probably meet in the Tyrol early in January, it was learned today.

Leopold has leased a villa at Kitzbuehel. The Windsors are due at Kitzbuehel early next month.

Makes Plea For Two Battleships

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—A strong plea for including funds for two new battleships in the next budget was made Monday to President Roosevelt by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison.

Edison called on Mr. Roosevelt and said it was essential that two new battleships be built this year in addition to the two already scheduled and started.

Family Of Four Is Wiped Out By Tragic Shooting

(International News Service)

DANVERS, Mass., Dec. 28.—Bodies of a family of four, wiped out in a pre-Christmas tragedy, rested in a vault Monday until relatives can decide on the form of funeral services.

An all day quarrel among relatives was halted at midnight when an undertaker used four hearses to carry the bodies to a cemetery without any religious services.

Albert Jalbert, 40, World war veteran, shot and killed his wife, Clara, 35, his son, Roland, 14, and daughter, Lorraine, 6, and hanged himself, the day before Christmas, according to police.

Loyalist Chief Is Confident Of Ending Of War

General Jose Miaja Says That Spanish War Will End In Three Months

(International News Service)
HENDAYE, France, Dec. 28.—"We shall finish the war in three months and we shall soon be able to dictate terms for a truce."
That was the confident message sent out of war-torn Spain by Loyalist General Jose Miaja today as a grim drama of blood and desperate bravery was enacted within the walls of Teruel.
There, in a battle reminiscent of the famous siege of the Alcazar, small bands of insurgents, vowing to die rather than surrender, held out in fortified buildings against overwhelming government forces which have occupied the city but cannot dislodge the last of the Rebels.
Turning Point
Nevertheless, government spokesmen felt certain their victory at Teruel will prove the turning point of the war and that the insurgents will be unable to recover from the crushing blow dealt their most strategic salient on the entire eastern front.
Conflicting reports of the tide of battle came from the Loyalist and insurgent headquarters. Barcelona, seat of the Loyalist government, said the position of the Rebels at Teruel is hopeless. But at Salamanca, Rebel officials declared insurgent columns were progressing in efforts to crack the government lines and rescue their beleaguered comrades.

Millionaire Jones was recalling the struggles of his youth.
"I was living in California, and my parents in New York," he said, "and I just had managed to save enough money to buy myself a bicycle when my father wrote that my mother was ill."
"I jumped on my bicycle and rode across the continent, only to be told that California air was all that would save my mother."
"So I dragged the bike in beside the bed, let the California air out of the tires, and she lived to the good old age of 95."

"Human Ice-Box" May Prolong Life

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 28.—A new method of cold storage of living bodies, that may some day be used on human beings to prolong life, has been successful on plants, it was reported here today, at the American Association for the Advancement of Science meeting.

Prof. B. J. Luyet, biologist of St. Louis University, the discoverer of the method calls it "the vitrification of living matter" and explained its significance thus:

"It has often been thought that some day it might be possible to keep human beings alive in cold storage, for a century and then revive him."

"The theory behind it is that vital activity is slowed, and life is suspended at low temperatures."

"So far experiments with microscopic organisms, such as germs and yeast cells, and with things that can be dried such as seeds, were successful."

Develops Process

"Living things that are larger in size, and those which contain some moisture, are killed. Water within them freezes."

"I have developed a process of preserving living things at a temperature of 100 degrees below the freezing point, Fahrenheit, without letting the water freeze."

Describing the process, the speaker said:

"This is done by immersing the specimen into liquid hydrogen."

"Thin plant leaves have been thus vitrified, turned into glass-like substances. These leaves can be re-stored to normal condition."

"At present the main difficulty is that the specimens must be very thin, and their water content must not exceed a certain limit."

"These investigations show how far science is at present in solving the problem of suspending human life by cold."

Small Home Market In '37 Saw Surprising Activity

There has been a surprising activity in the small home market in the New Castle locality during 1937, an executive of a local building and loan association, reported today. He said that as evidence of this, his organization had placed well over $200,000 worth of first mortgage loans and that of this number, 25 had been for the purpose of purchasing homes and 15 more had been for the construction of new homes, the average cost of which was $5,000 each.

A large number of loans placed through the association were under the FHA plan. This plan of financing is quite advantageous to the person planning to build for the reason that they have the benefit of the review of their plans and specifications by the architectural division of the FHA which division also provides three complete inspections of the house during construction. This is without cost to the borrower.

The loan official stated that the past year had been the best that the building and loan industry in this locality had experienced since 1929. He further stated that the association with which he was connected had distributed over $43,000 in dividends during the year and had shown a substantial increase in assets. He estimated the building and loan dividends in Lawrence county for 1937 to be well over $125,000. He was also very loud in his praise of the workings of the Federal Home Loan Bank System and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, stating that these two government agencies had done much toward stabilizing the building and loan industry in general.

Many Solo Parts To Be Presented

Will Feature Singing Of "The Messiah" At First Church On Thursday

When the Messiah is presented on Thursday evening by the choir of the First U. P. church, practically all the well known recitatives and arias will be sung. Among them are:

Recitative, Comfort ye, my people; tenor air, Every valley shall be exalted.

Recitative, Thus saith the Lord; bass air, But who may abide the day of his coming.

Recitative, Behold a virgin shall conceive; contralto air, O Thou that tellest good tidings.

Recitative, For behold, darkness shall cover the earth; bass air, The people that walked in darkness.

Recitatives, There were shepherds; And lo, the angel of the Lord; and the angel said; And suddenly there was with the angel.

Soprano air, Rejoice greatly.

Recitative, Then shall the eyes of the blind; contralto air, He shall feed His flock.

Soprano air, Come unto him.

Contralto air, He was despised.

Tenor recitative, All they that see Him laugh Him to scorn.

Recitative, Thy rebuke hath broken His heart; tenor air, Behold and see if there be any sorrow.

Bass air, Why do the nations so furiously rage together.

Recitative, He that dwelleth in heaven; tenor air, Thou shalt break them.

Soprano air, I know that my Redeemer liveth.

Violin Prodigy Reported Missing

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Disappearance of Harry Jacoby, 14-year-old violin prodigy, from his Brooklyn home last October 11 was revealed today when an 8-state alarm was sent out for him.

Hopeful that his son would eventually return home, the father, Nathan Jacoby, a baker, withheld notifying the police.

When last seen, Harry had his violin under his arm. It was believed he might have attempted to hitch-hike his way to Hollywood to try to write music for screen productions.

funny stories, being a Good Fellow.

It's deeper and stronger. It's seeing life clearly. It is walking lightly, but steadily, through life and seeing things just about as they are. It's taking life seriously, but not taking it mournfully. It's having a true sense of proportion about ourselves, about other people.

If you have that precious quality within you, then you have a Sense of Humor. But if you have it, you'll not boast about it. You couldn't, because, if you did—you wouldn't have it long. It would fly away from you. Because the world is so big and life so broad that anyone looks ridiculous when he insists that he knows all about it.

Vegetables Net Return Of Billion

Yearly Income From Crop
Exceeds That Of Cotton
By 50 Millions

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Vegetable growing—commonly regarded as a minor agricultural enterprise—has become a billion-dollar-a-year industry, Department of Agriculture records show.

Gross income from vegetables during the past five years has averaged about 23 percent of income from all sources, department economists said.

Average annual income from vegetables exceeded that from cotton by 50 million dollars; grains by 100 million dollars; fruits and nuts by 250 million dollars, and tobacco by 600 million dollars, the department reported.

Rich Per-Acre Return
Farmers who planted about 10,500,000 acres—3 percent of all crop lands—in vegetables this year will receive an average income of approximately $100 an acre, compared with an average of $15 an acre for all crop lands.

The American diet is made up of an increasing proportion of vegetables, according to department experts. The use of fresh vegetables has virtually doubled since 1920, due to improved methods of shipping which makes year-around marketing practical.

The canning industry virtually has doubled in the last 20 years and now supplies a market for crops from about two million acres. Commercial vegetables for fresh marketing and canning are grown principally along the Atlantic seaboard, in the Gulf states and on the Pacific Coast.

More Potatoes Planted
The acreage of potatoes, the leading vegetable crop, has varied widely, with the general level increasing slightly during the past 10 years.

The acreage of sweet potatoes has increased sharply, rising from 636,000 acres in 1928 to approximately one million acres in recent years. Dry edible beans increased from 861,000 acres in 1921 to 1,885,000 acres this year.

The acreage of truck crops for market has increased from 966,000 in 1925 to approximately 1,750,000 this year. The planting of truck crops for market of fresh vegetables has increased much more rapidly than the planting for canning, the department said.

Writing Needs Streamlining, Argues Savant
New System Of Shorthand, Simplified Spelling Favored

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 28.—The reason many people find it difficult to put their thoughts on paper is that their handwriting cannot keep up with their ideas, according to Dr. Walter V. Kaufers, of Stanford University, who advocates streamlined English spelling and handwriting.

Dr. Kaufers told the National Council of Teachers of English, which held its annual meeting here, that he favored a system of shorthand and simplified spelling.

"How much better it would be if we could be taught from the start to use a kind of shorthand that would make it possible for anyone to write down an idea as fast as he could think," he said.

"Why should the school continue teaching a system of handwriting so inefficient that it has very little place in modern business?"

"Why should we still be obliged to write a capital 'Q' in much the same way that the ancients made it 500 years ago—and for no better reason than that they somehow took it into their heads to draw the picture of a monkey with his tail hanging down?"

California Co-Ed Shows How One Can Dress Well On Budget Of $240 Yearly

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—The six thousand co-eds of the University of California blushed collectively and tried to keep the news from their dads, when Jean Scott Berg, recently chosen one of the five best-dressed girls on the campus, revealed she spends but $240 a year on her clothes.

In order to placate those with more expensive budgets, Miss Berg did concede that the upkeep of her wardrobe and care of her blonde hair costs $54 more.

But then, in a devastating blow to those querulous appeals—"Can I have a new dress for the spring formal?"—Miss Berg told her dismayed sisters (and within earshot of any fathers who might have listened) that she wears the same dress as long as three years!

Against Usual Tradition.
That, in case you have a daughter in college, or know one, is pure murder, as most any one knows.

Perhaps some distraught fathers would like to know how Miss Berg does it. (That's the question the co-eds are asking themselves.) So here's her schedule.

"First I buy quality, not quantity. I like things that will not go out of style. By wearing them two or three years, I can afford to buy better ones," Miss Berg, who is a senior student, said.

"Then I make some of my own clothes—all my wash dresses, occasionally hats, suits and even formal."

Does Own Alterations
"I take care of them myself."

shortening and altering my dresses when they need it."

"I just love accessories and silly little gadgets, and spend more on them proportionately than on anything else."

"Really though, accessories and trimmings make one dress into many and provide variety, which is economical."

This year Miss Berg, who is very active in campus life, built her wardrobe around two color schemes: Black for afternoon and evening clothes; duobonnet with blues and pinks for campus and street wear.

She does her own hair washing and waving, her own fingernails and her own laundering. Once a month, though, she goes to a beauty shop and has her hair cut and set.

Breakdown of Budget
As long as we've revealed this much, we might as well go the limit and give father the budget itself. Here's how Miss Berg breaks it down:

Shoes, three pairs, $22.50; stockings, 18 pairs, $18; gloves, two pairs, $4; underclothing, $25; clips and fancy pins, $2; belts, three, $3; accessories, $10; material for a satin formal, two wash dresses, one raw silk dress, a two-suit, an afternoon dress and an evening hat, $37.50; three hats, $10; woolen dress, $30; knit suit, $17; street dress, $25; coat, $30; two purses, $4; ankle socks, $2; cleaning, $36; care of the hair, $16; powder and lipstick, $2.

There it is, Dads of America. Now let Betty Co-ed come and wall on your shoulders. You have ammunition now.

than men, and less time to do it in. They are too busy to worry their heads with silly spites. And they are bigger-minded than men. In my opinion it is the blustering male whose pride has been assailed who harbors malice."

Women Intensive Haters
A London, police-court missionary with wide experience of domestic cases, however, agreed with Grazebrook's view that women were more intensive haters.

"Men seem to forget more quickly," the police court missionary said. "Women, too, appear to be more persistent in sticking up for what they consider their rights."

"If they think they have been wronged they will never rest until they get satisfaction."

Bachelor Blames Depression On Working Wives

COLUMBUS, O.—Economic ills of the state and nation are blamed by State Rep. Patrick J. Dunn (D) Tuscarawas county, on employment of married women.

Dunn, a bachelor, proposed to the taxation committee that laws be enacted prohibiting employment of married women in business and industry and in public positions.

"You never will be able to break the depression and solve the relief and delinquency tax problem until you stop giving jobs to married women," Dunn told the committee.

Dunn sponsored a bill in the last legislature which would have prohibited man and wife being employed by the state but it failed to pass.

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—Despite its thriving industries, its large cities and its national leadership in agriculture, California is still a frontier state, fighting the age-old battle of the frontier for survival—the howling defiance of the coyote that still stalks his prey in more than two-thirds of the state's counties.

The State Division of Natural Resources reports that $150,000 is expended yearly to exterminate predatory animals, but despite this in 31 counties during the past year there were 6,962 coyotes killed, 1,458 bobcats and one bear.

The $150,000 spent for extermination of predatory animals does not include bounties paid by various agencies or the cost of hunters and trappers employed by individual farmers.

Plays Santa By Proxy To Children In New York City Home

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt played Santa Claus by proxy today to 11-year-old Serafina Squicciarini and her three younger sisters in their humble Brooklyn home.

Serafina was heartbroken on Christmas Day because she thought the first lady had disregarded her plea to guide Santa Claus to their home. She had written: "I'm worried because I don't think Santa will come to my house—we are so poor."

Today it developed that Mrs. Roosevelt had forwarded the letter to the Brooklyn Juvenile Aid Bureau, but that the missive had been delayed due to the flood of holiday mail. And the four little girls, informed they would receive a basket of toys and food, happily planned a belated Christmas.

California Co-Ed Shows How One Can Dress Well On Budget Of $240 Yearly

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—The six thousand co-eds of the University of California blushed collectively and tried to keep the news from their dads, when Jean Scott Berg, recently chosen one of the five best-dressed girls on the campus, revealed she spends but $240 a year on her clothes.

In order to placate those with more expensive budgets, Miss Berg did concede that the upkeep of her wardrobe and care of her blonde hair costs $54 more.

But then, in a devastating blow to those querulous appeals—"Can I have a new dress for the spring formal?"—Miss Berg told her dismayed sisters (and within earshot of any fathers who might have listened) that she wears the same dress as long as three years!

Against Usual Tradition.
That, in case you have a daughter in college, or know one, is pure murder, as most any one knows.

Perhaps some distraught fathers would like to know how Miss Berg does it. (That's the question the co-eds are asking themselves.) So here's her schedule.

"First I buy quality, not quantity. I like things that will not go out of style. By wearing them two or three years, I can afford to buy better ones," Miss Berg, who is a senior student, said.

"Then I make some of my own clothes—all my wash dresses, occasionally hats, suits and even formal."

Does Own Alterations
"I take care of them myself."

shortening and altering my dresses when they need it."

"I just love accessories and silly little gadgets, and spend more on them proportionately than on anything else."

"Really though, accessories and trimmings make one dress into many and provide variety, which is economical."

This year Miss Berg, who is very active in campus life, built her wardrobe around two color schemes: Black for afternoon and evening clothes; duobonnet with blues and pinks for campus and street wear.

She does her own hair washing and waving, her own fingernails and her own laundering. Once a month, though, she goes to a beauty shop and has her hair cut and set.

Breakdown of Budget
As long as we've revealed this much, we might as well go the limit and give father the budget itself. Here's how Miss Berg breaks it down:

Shoes, three pairs, $22.50; stockings, 18 pairs, $18; gloves, two pairs, $4; underclothing, $25; clips and fancy pins, $2; belts, three, $3; accessories, $10; material for a satin formal, two wash dresses, one raw silk dress, a two-suit, an afternoon dress and an evening hat, $37.50; three hats, $10; woolen dress, $30; knit suit, $17; street dress, $25; coat, $30; two purses, $4; ankle socks, $2; cleaning, $36; care of the hair, $16; powder and lipstick, $2.

There it is, Dads of America. Now let Betty Co-ed come and wall on your shoulders. You have ammunition now.

than men, and less time to do it in. They are too busy to worry their heads with silly spites. And they are bigger-minded than men. In my opinion it is the blustering male whose pride has been assailed who harbors malice."

Women Intensive Haters
A London, police-court missionary with wide experience of domestic cases, however, agreed with Grazebrook's view that women were more intensive haters.

"Men seem to forget more quickly," the police court missionary said. "Women, too, appear to be more persistent in sticking up for what they consider their rights."

"If they think they have been wronged they will never rest until they get satisfaction."

Threatened Court Action Emphasizes Propaganda Value

(International News Service)
PARIS—The mounting value of propaganda in warfare was seen today in the threatened lawsuit of representatives of the Basque government against the Paris branch of a German photographic company.

Threatening to ask for tremendous damages, the Basques have brought a bizarre complaint against the film company, holding it responsible for disappearance of a motion picture film which the Basques allege proved that German bombing planes were responsible for the destruction of Guernica.

Bombing Aroused Horror
The destruction of the ancient city of Guernica last spring outraged Spaniards of both sides more than any other single incident of the war this year. The Republicans have laid the blame on Nationalist bombers, some manned by foreigners. The Nationalists accused Reds of blowing up the city with dynamite before Franco's forces arrived.

Plaintiffs in the altercation here allege they took the films to the photographic firm to have them developed.

When the developed films were returned, the Basques allege they received a great shock. When they ran the films off in a projection room they did not see German planes dropping explosives over a smoking city. Instead, they alleged, they saw a beautiful travelogue through the Italian countryside.

Denies Switch In Films
The manager of the film company flatly denied to reporters that any switch in films had been made by him.

He said that the developed films were run off in the presence of the persons who brought them in. He admitted they expressed surprise at the scenes of pastoral beauty which unfolded before them, but said they raised no objections and even ordered 18 duplicate films. He asserted they made no complaint until all the duplicates were delivered.

The manager said he is investigating to see whether the alleged bombing films were sent by mistake to an American in Nice. He ridiculed suggestion of any political motive for a substitution of Italian films.

Fifth Death Results From Accident Near Franklin On December 4

FRANKLIN, Dec. 28.—The fifth victim of an automobile accident on the Pittsburgh road December 4 died in the Franklin hospital, bringing the toll of deaths resulting from the single mishap to five persons.

Sherman Saunders, 34-year-old colored chauffeur of the car that was wrecked when it left the highway, plunged into an embankment and struck a coal truck succumbed after being a patient in the hospital for nearly three weeks. His home was at 244½ Omega street, East Liberty, Pittsburgh.

Others who were killed instantly or fatally injured in the crash were Mrs. Loretta Zahlot, of Pittsburgh, employer of Saunders; Mr. and Mrs. Wadie Sisyuf and their son, Philip, of New Castle. An inquest has been held in connection with their deaths, and a coroner's jury attributed the accident to the speed of the vehicle in rounding a curve.

Building To Begin In Slippery Rock
SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Dec. 28.—The General State Authority has designated the $29,887 bid of the Book-Davis Company of Grove City as the unofficial low estimate for the general construction contract on additions and improvements to the power plant and boiler house at Slippery Rock State Teachers College.

Firms from New Castle, Erie, Hazleton, and Sharon submitted bids. It is announced that bids for the construction of the new science hall, library, high school and president's residence will be opened January 11. Ground-breaking ceremonies in the new $1,200,000 building program here have been set for the middle of January.

Beaver Show Home Razed By Flames

BEAVER, Pa., Dec. 28.—The country home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Davidson, along the Tuscarawas road, was destroyed by fire on Monday at an estimated loss of $15,000.

Their daughter, Marian, 7, ill for three months from inflammatory rheumatism, was carried safely from her second-story bedroom.

Origin of the fire has not been determined. Neighbors, for miles around, formed a bucket brigade but were unable to check the flames. The Davidson home was built two generations ago and was one of the show places of Beaver county.

Davidson is a Beaver Falls business man.

Early settlers in Central Pennsylvania often ground their grain in a hand coffee mill.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Next Congress May Do Little

Coming Regular Session Is Expected To Prove Unproductive Of Legislation

ROOSEVELT MAY BE TURNED DOWN

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Congress' regular session, beginning Jan. 3, probably will be as unproductive as the extra session, recently ended.

During the short holiday recess New Deal leaders have worked hard to put some "pep" into the Roosevelt program, but the rank and file of legislators seem as little inclined as ever to lend support to White House recommendations. Quite generally they scattered from Washington over Christmas and the New Year. Probably few of them went home, except those who live very nearby the capital, but they went a-vacationing elsewhere, anyway. Apparently they preferred not to remain here, to be worked on at leisure by the administration's managers. Said managers wanted them to stay, for a week or 10 days of fixing between sessions. It was significant that the lawmakers dodged, by absenting themselves so numerous.

Not that the Republicans had any reason for going into hiding. The Democrats were the solons who sought seclusion from administrative pressure. But, considering that Democrats are about three times the strength of Republicans on Capitol Hill, they were the ones whose exodus gave Washington so quiet a political Christmas day.

IN EMBARRASSING POSITION
Many a Democratic senator and representative, who must face his bailiwick's voters in the spring primaries and again at the polls in the autumn, is in an embarrassing position.

On the one hand, it is bilious business for him to go on record as having done nothing to counteract the national economic recession. On the opposite hand, it is equally bilious business for him to subscribe to some of the recession counterattacks, which manifestly must be repulsive to his people locally.

Maybe such a remedy will be beneficial nationally, but will lick that candidate in his personal district.

The senator or representative who will jeopardize his own chance of re-election, right where he lives, on account of any national consideration (even if he believes in it on a broad scale) is a "rara avis".

F. D. R.'S PROBLEM
Congressman No. 1, let us say, has no particular interest in Congress. No. 2's problem, nor has Congressman No. 2 any interest in Congressman No. 1's problem.

Yet No. 1 will help No. 2 if No. 2 will help No. 1.
President Roosevelt's interest is nation-wide, but it is not cohesive. Other interests, in part in sympathy with him, nevertheless combine against him.

F. D.'s cause lacks unity.

HAPPY G. O. P. GROUP
Happy the G. O. P. group in Congress!

It has, internally, among and between John D. M. Hamilton, Herbert Hoover, Alf M. Landon, Ham Fish, Glenn Frank and others certain conflicts, but they are not basic. To the contrary, they admit of some agreements with the Democrats.

A DO-NOTHING CONGRESS
Undoubtedly it means another stale-mate at the 1938 congressional session, as at the last extra session. There will not be any legislation to mention.

But it will be a democratic (with a little "d") session.
The executive power will be stepped on.
It will not get anything that it has asked for.

PROOF of its Merit—83 Years of Success

New Castle Man Veteran Of Many Trips At Sea

Among the residents of New Castle is a man who has served with that group of seamen termed as "old salts." He is Frederick Berner, of the Wallace Block, 9 North Jefferson street.

Mr. Berner started his sea career at the age of 14, in 1912, just as the old schooners were beginning to become obsolete. He was born in Bergen, a fishing village on the west coast of Norway, and received his first training on the English freighter, "Borna," a three masted bark. Mr. Berner has been to most of the principal ports of the world, souvenirs of which adorn his apartment.

He served on British freighters in the North Sea during the World War, and during that time, ships upon which he was stationed were torpedoed twice by German U-boats. Berner was aboard a ship that was wrecked off the Norwegian coast during a terrific gale. He also sailed on steamers that carried munitions from Baltimore to Le Havre and Rouen, France, from the year 1917 to 1918.

Berner descends from a family of life-long seamen, his uncle having been one of the victims of the ill-fated "Maine" which sank in the Havana harbor.

After the World War, Berner came to the United States and enlisted in the Coast Guards where he remained until 1934. In the Coast Guard service, he was boatswain's mate, first class, aboard the U. S. S. Saranac, one of the first Coast Guard vessels to cross the equator. He has 22 years of active seaman-ship to his credit.

A typical Norwegian sailor, Berner does not talk of his numerous adventures, but in his heart he longs for the smell of salt and the sound of rolling surf.

Charles S. Thatcher, by trustee to Harriet T. Smith, Taylor Twp. $1100.

Around the court house these days there is something of the same air of expectancy there is around your home a few days before a big party. On Monday, January 3 a number of officers will be inducted into office. Judge Thomas W. Dickey will assume his place as the regularly elected judge for ten years. Sheriff M. M. Ingham will be sworn in, so will Register and Recorder Orville Potter. District Attorney John G. Lamoree will take his oath and for the ceremonies there will probably be a crowd.

After the induction of the officers will come the induction of deputies and clerks who are to assist the men elected. Sheriff Ingham will have a nice job or his hands immediately after he is sworn in. There will be 25 sheriff's sales to conduct. A year ago there were 65 on the first Monday of January.

The new sheriff M. M. Ingham has been familiarizing himself with the duties of his office. Last week he made a trip to Huntingdon and Torrance with Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard.

It costs money to be elected to office both during the campaign and when you are elected. Commissions have to be recorded and the filing fees are not inconsiderable. Register and Recorder-elect Orville Potter has to pay $46 filing fees for his office. Others are less.

A pet fancier who is skilled in the diseases of animals has called attention to the fact that some of the squirrels on the court house lawn have developed mange. He suggests that Game Protector Frank L. Coen should destroy the afflicted squirrels and thus save a possible epidemic of the disease among all kinds of pets in this district.

The new office for the county commissioners and the new stairway to the second floor will be ready for use this week. The stairs are ready for the rubber mats on the treads, the walls are plastered and by Saturday, the improvement should be ready for use.

The improvement has been skillfully planned. The new stair way is infinitely better than the old one. The old stairs were wide but the treads had steel tips and were always dangerous. The new stairway is divided in the middle by a grilled rail which will aid persons climbing the stairways and also mark an up and down lane.

County Commissioner George H. Bolinger is still ill at his home in Neshannock Township and Commissioner Floyd Cotton is holding down the job alone. It is probable that a new commissioner will be appointed within a few days to succeed the late Joseph Hannon.

Among the instruments recorded on Monday was the commission for Judge W. Walter Braham as the president judge of the county.

Dog owners seem to have forgotten that their pets have to have new tags by January 1. Out of over 9000 tags to be sold in the county less than 75 have been put out. Unless there is a rush of dog owners this week to get tags there will be a rush to pay fines soon after the Dog Enforcement Law Officer gets going.

Delinquent tax collectors have been appointed by the county commissioners to collect delinquent taxes in the following districts: Hickory Township, William Graham; Wayne township, Leroy Hazen; Ellwood City W. Howard Wilson. In the fourth ward the books are ready for delinquent tax collections, the amount being $12,781.99. This is divided $7,178.04 county and $5,613.95 poor.

Three new applicants for deputy sheriff positions were posted by Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard on Monday. They are Mike Sopkovich, 23 Maitland street, Jack Steinbrink, 106 East Reynolds street and C. B. White, New Wilmington.

A rather belated Christmas present will be handed out to a number of people Wednesday morning at nine o'clock. Sentence court will be held and the list is a long one.

Chinese Want More Aid From Soviet Russia

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, Dec. 28.—Chinese moves to seek more aid from Soviet Russia were seen Monday in the recall of Ambassador Ting-Fu Tsing. Convinced that the Soviets would give no more than moral support against Japan, Dr. Tsing left last Thursday for China, and did not expect to return.

Says Income Tax Blanks To Be Less Complex

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—Federal income tax blanks, which go out in the mails next month, will be much less complex than the 1937 forms, Joseph A. Wilson, chief of the Income Tax Division, said yesterday. Taxpayers opening their envelopes will find seven sheets inside, of varying sizes.

"The form has been much simplified," said Wilson.
First, there will be the income tax form itself and then two green duplicate sheets, one to be turned in. The other may be kept for reference.

"(They should be much easier to make out," Wilson said.)
Then you'll pull out of the envelope a pink slip, on which will be noted changes from last year's blank.

"The public has been used to the same kind of forms and has become slightly familiar with them," Wilson explained. "It's going to take quite a while for the taxpayers to become familiar with the new form and appreciate it."

Then you'll dig further into the envelope and find a four-page sheet of instructions, a classification card which you may use to request a different type of form and, finally, a mailing slip.

"(But eventually you'll find it simpler," Wilson assured members of the Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants at a luncheon at the Manufacturers and Bankers Club.)

New Tax Bill To Have Surprise

Stiff Penalty To Be Imposed For "Hoarding" Earnings To Escape Taxation

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The administration's new tax program will contain a surprise provision imposing stiff penalty taxes on corporations "hoarding" earnings for the purpose of avoiding taxation, it was disclosed today.

In baring plans already made for revision of the undistributed profits taxes, leaders on the house ways and means tax subcommittee have purposely avoided mention of the "whipped" provision.

The proposal, however, is being whipped into shape by treasury and congressional tax experts and is declared by congressional tax leaders to be necessary for the protection of treasury revenues.

The secretive attitude of subcommittee's members on the provision is said to be due to fear that business might regard it as a nullification of the promise made to repeal the undistributed profits tax on some corporations and modify it as to others.

Under the profits tax change proposed by the house subcommittee, outright repeal would be voted on corporations earning $25,000 a year or less. On corporations earning more than $25,000, the tax on earnings would range from 16 to 20 per cent, depending upon the amount of distribution.

A maximum penalty of four per cent would be imposed on corporations for their undistributed profits as against 27 per cent under present law.

Because of this, congressional experts say, it might be advantageous for owners of some businesses to fail to distribute profits and pay the four per cent penalty, rather than to distribute them and pay individual income taxes.

For years the tax laws carried a provision imposing a 50 per cent penalty on corporations refusing to distribute profits for the purpose of avoiding taxes. This was changed in the 1936 law to a graduated scale ranging from 15 to 35 per cent.

The new provision is understood to carry higher rates, with new methods of administration claimed to be more effective.

Checks To Jobless Start After Jan. 1

Date When Payments Begin In Pennsylvania Is Clarified By Bashore

HARRISBURG, Dec. 28.—A flood of queries as to when unemployment compensation checks will be mailed prompted the Unemployment Compensation Bureau to reiterate today earlier announcements that payments would not start before January 1.

"Answer to the questions, 'Will I get my unemployment compensation check before New Year's?' is no," Ralph M. Bashore, Labor and Industry Secretary, said.

"Inquiries have been received from all over the State by the Unemployment Compensation Division," he added, "about payment of compensation benefits. Some unemployed workers apparently believed compensation checks are now ready for distribution and would be delivered at once."

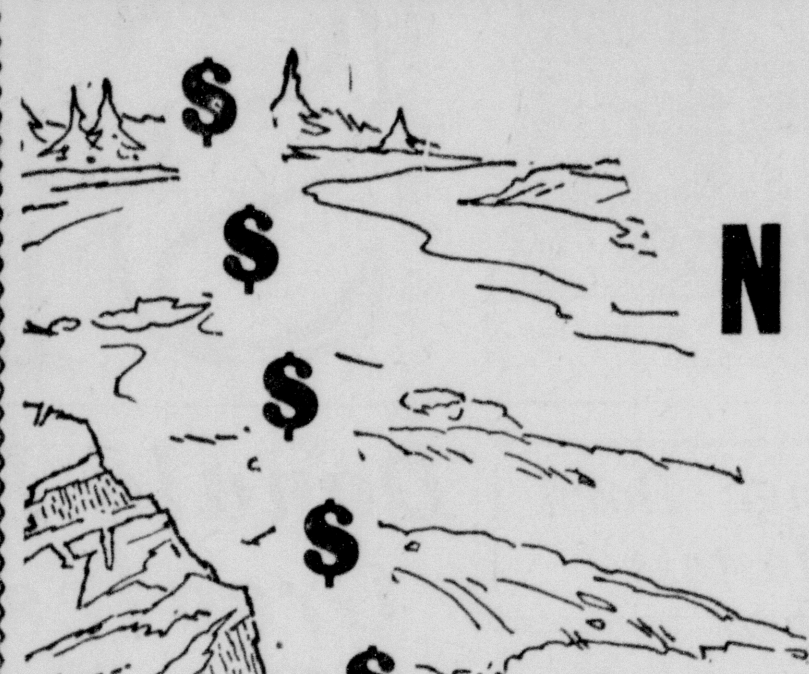

"This is impossible because the division is operated according to rules and regulations of the unemployment compensation law which stipulates payment of benefits after January 1, 1938, and not before then."

Bashore pointed out the law required persons who lose jobs through no fault of their own to register for work at a State employment office, file benefit claims and wait three weeks to become eligible for a 13-week compensation.

"It is to advantage of all unemployed not already registered at a State employment office to register immediately," he said.

AROUND CITY HALL

Council met yesterday and discussed the allegation that the city holds title to property on which rent is not being paid or paid to some one other than the city. At that time Mayor Charles E. McGrath expressed a dislike of the city entering into the real estate business. However, he added that if rent money was being paid to someone other than the city the fact should be investigated because the city now has a list of all such properties. Councilman J. D. Alexander said the best plan, in his mind, would be to accept rental money as taxes. The solons recessed until afternoon. They intended to continue consideration of the situation but did not get to it. Instead they went into committee of the whole to clean out the pigeon hole. Many items left in the committee already had been taken care of. They did not act on any of the proposed bills for paving. They will remain there until the council decides upon the paving program then pass the bills simultaneously. No action was taken on a request for a traffic light at East Washington and County Line street neither was action taken on the requested paving of Hutchison street.

Kittanning High Here Tonight To Play New Castle

"Kitties" Hope To Even Up For Defeat Suffered At Kittanning

New Castle High school basketball team will play the Kittanning high team at the Washington High gym tonight. The reserves of the two schools will play the preliminary game at 7:15 o'clock.

The New Castle boys upset the "Kitties" earlier in the year 19 to 9 at the Kittanning High court and the visitors will be out to get revenge on the "Red Devils."

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh will start his customary lineup, no doubt that will have Nocera and Koszela at the forwards, Strausbaugh at center and Ryglinski and Sniezek at the guards. Carey and Marvin are having a tough time to crash the starting lineup, but have looked real good in practice. Bombyk is also improving quite a lot and may get a starting post soon.

N. Y. A. Quintet To Play Pulaskis

The N. Y. A. basketball team, coached by John Rubels, will get the "acid" test on Thursday night at the K. Pulaski hall when they meet the K. Pulaski "Big Five."

The N. Y. A. team will be composed of Dal Mumford, DeCaprio, Joe Cooper, Toscano and Mike Perrett, former high stars. Nickie Ross is also on the roster. The game will start at 8:30 o'clock.

Coach Rubels is planning a defense that will stop the high scoring Slesnick coached machine. The N. Y. A. team will get another test on December 31 when they will play a practice game at the Union high school with the Union high team. All of the N. Y. A. players are asked to be at the "Y" at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon to make the trip to the Union high court.

New Floor Loop For "Y" Planned

A new basketball league for the "Y" to be known as the Senior basketball league will be formed at the Y. M. C. A. this year it was announced by Henry MacNicholas today. Four teams will make up the league and each team already has a captain appointed.

The captains are—Nick Genlock, Frank Robinson, Edgie Skaneski and Frank Bush. About forty men are expected to participate in this league. Any men who have not signed applications should do so at once. Church league men are not eligible for this league. The games will be played on Friday nights. The league games will start at 8 o'clock on January 7th.

Donald Budge Is Greatest Tennis Player, Is Belief

By WALTER L. PATE
Captain 1937 U. S. Davis Cup Team
(Written Especially For International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—On July 20, 1937, on the center court at historic Wimbledon, England, Donald Budge and Baron Von Cramm were engaged in perhaps the greatest tennis match of all time.

Don had been desperately near defeat but late that afternoon the scoreboard showed him to be leading 6-3, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2, 7-6 and vantage point. At the end of his position to serve the huge crowd was tense and breathless and there was utter silence. A tremendous service crashed into Cramm's court and the spectators were amazed to see him keep the match alive by a marvelous return. After a short exchange from deep court Cramm hit hard and deep to the right corner and leaped to the net.

Don's reply was a miracle shot—a booming low forehand drive which paralleled the sideline the entire length of the court for a clean passing ace. When the ball hit the ground inches from the baseline and the fame distance from the sideline the battle was over and the United States entered the challenge round against England.

Lost To France
As if was the consensus that the winner of the interzone final would defeat Great Britain, Don's master stroke marked the greatest moment in the last ten years of American tennis.

We lost the cup to France in 1927 and all efforts to recover it failed until this year, when Budge led the American team to victory. Its return acted as an immediate stimulus to tennis in this country and 1937 will long be remembered here as a banner year. Upon the return of our team great interest was displayed by players to improve their games and the attendance at tournaments increased from coast to coast. The climax came at the national singles championship at Forest Hills as several thousands were turned away on the final day and Budge brought the national championship back to the United States.

But the return of the cup has done much more than that. It has inspired many of our younger players, on whom the future of tennis in our country depends, to play the more aggressive forcing type of game that brought us success in the past. That, by far, is the most important reason why 1937 has been a great year for lawn tennis in the United States.

How long will we hold the cup? Our prospects for 1938 are bright.

Not Many Changes In Football Rules

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—The goal posts will be the focal line for the football season of 1938, for all the football coaches of America will care to do about it, at least the 700 of them contacted in a national canvass completed today. Oddly and just a shade comically, however, several dozens of them—whose names are charitably withheld—seem to be dallying with some vague notion, having to do with some of Ruben Goldberg's contraption they refer to as the "overhanging" goal posts.

These items alone are outstanding in the long list of suggestions submitted. Sentiment also seems to favor widening of the side-line zone from 10 yards to 15, as in the professional game, but a surprising vote at that, was for letting the rules severely alone, which might be done.

Side-Line Zones
More and more, in fact, the football rules committee, as it goes into its annual trance and does a swami upon itself among the stately pines of South Jersey, is coming to lean upon the suggestions of the coaches advisory committee, which, in turn, takes its line of approach from the majority opinion of its contemporaries at large. I should say, off-hand, that for 1938 the side-line zone will be increased to 15 yards, so as to heighten the effectiveness of running plays back to the weak side, and that otherwise probably nothing will be done about anything.

Leave Goal Posts Alone
As a matter of fact, just what could be done in connection with an over-hanging set of goal posts is something I think should be left in the hands of a special two-man committee, composed of the aforesaid Goldberg and the man who invented the pogo stick. The idea of these gridiron innovators is to have the uprights remain ten yards back of the goal line, where they currently repose, but to have the cross-bar advanced ten yards on a pair of supporting "arms."

"They'll get around to surmising it in time, of course, but right now they don't quite seem to realize that forward passes would be ricocheting off these arms with considerable abandon. Not being an engineer or even a journeyman plumber, I can only destroy the idea without offering a remedy, but it might be possible to have the uprights tower, say, thirty feet in the air; extend the arms from that height to a point over the goal line; then drop two extensions down to the cross-bar at the proper height."

This would leave the goal line free for scoring plays under the goal posts, but wouldn't leave much more "air territory" for passes.

As a matter of fact, after thinking the matter over very deeply, I still think Goldberg does it better. He at least intends to be funny.

Many Upsets Mark 1937 Grid Season

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—The 1937 football season bows its way out leaving behind a lasting impression: That no other recent campaign has produced so many front reversals, week after week, along virtually all fronts. Outstanding favorites were halted by ties or defeats, under dogs forged to the front with victories when they should have lost, and the ultimate result was that no team could claim a clean-cut national championship.

Pitt, led by Marshall Goldberg, and a powerful eleven which generally was presumed to be the best in the country, Fordham, bolstered by a nearly impenetrable line built around Alex Wojciechowski, wasn't far behind, but the Panthers and Rams played to a scoreless deadlock which spoiled the records for both.

Alabama had Joe Kilgore and Leroy Monsky and an undefeated season, but confined its warfare to the south and, as a result, never figured in the national picture. The same went for Colorado, which came up with one of the great stars of the year in Whizzer White, but never moved outside its own Rocky Mountain sector.

An otherwise perfect record was spoiled for California by Washington, which battled to a scoreless deadlock. Santa Clara and Lafayette were unbeaten but played minor opposition for the most part. The former, however, turned back Stanford among others. Holy Cross and Dartmouth were tied twice and Villanova once.

Through it all, Alabama took the Southeastern conference crown and California won in the Pacific coast circuit, with a battle between these two in the Rose Bowl on New Year's day the season piece de resistance and grand finale all wrapped into one.

In other sectors, Minnesota emerged on top in the Big Ten, Nebraska in the Big Six, Dartmouth in the Ivy league, North Carolina in the Southern, Rice in the Southwestern, Colorado in the Rocky Mountain. The east was thoroughly jumbled with Pitt and Fordham apparent standouts.

The calibre of the game was slightly off in the usually powerful Big Ten through a boisterous season, but there as everywhere, the crowds poured into the arenas, despite extremely bad weather in some instances.

The record crowd turned out at Philadelphia for the Army-Navy game, played to a capacity 102,000. On the coast, 85,000 saw California beat Stanford for the conference championship. The Yale bowl was filled for the first time since 1931 when Harvard wrecked the Bulldogs' undefeated plans before 72,000. The Army-Notre Dame and Fordham-New York university games here drew 65,000.

West All-Stars To Hold Practice

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—West All-Stars will hold secret practices for the next four days at Stanford University in preparation for their Shrine Charity football game with the East All-Stars here on New Year's day.

A pickup team of Stanford players and other former college stars of Pacific coast colleges have been giving the squad hard practice.

MILTON STREET JUNIORS
The Milton Street Juniors opened their basketball season last night by meeting the West Side Tigers and winning 16 to 12. Bill Hufford, Don McCormick and Francis Stockman were the stars of the game.

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Dec. 28.—Top ranking favorites Sam Snead and Ralph Guldahl found themselves far behind the leaders today as the Hollywood open golf tournament embarked on its second round. Foremost were Horton Smith of Chicago and Leonard Dodson of Springfield, Mo., who tallied three-under-par 67s in the opening session, against Snead's and Guldahl's 73s.

Dick Metz of Lake Forest and Bruce Coltart of Haddonfield, N. J., younger pro players, turned in scores of 68.

Just under par with 69s were Paul Runyan, Frank Moore, Johnny Revolta, Jimmy Hines and Craft Wood. Today's session is another 18-hole affair.

Lash-Romani Plan To Race

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Track fans today looked forward to a match race at 3,000 meters between Don Lash and Archie San Romani at the Columbus Council K. of C. meet at Brooklyne Jan. 8. The pair ran a near dead-heat in a 4:07.2 mile at Princeton last summer, their last meeting.

"If they try to bring back the old dead ball all of a sudden it will kill the National League" said Johnny Evers of the famous Tunker-to-Evers-to-Chance double-play combination of the Chicago Cubs 30 years ago. "Why, those fellows would have to learn to play baseball all over again. It is unthinkable. The American league has enough of a bulge on us now without letting it gain any more headway" said Evers who also reminded that "once a National leaguer, always a National leaguer." He made his prediction at Albany, N. Y.

Harvey J. Harman former star of New Castle high, has resigned as head coach of football at the University of Pennsylvania. He has also been granted a leave of absence as physical director. In naming the announcement the university said it took the opportunity to express publicly its appreciation of the loyal and untiring service Harman has rendered. Harman went to Penn after starting under Pop Warner at Pitt.

Doubling their opponent's output of goals from the field with 18 to 9, Duquesne U. regained, winning form last night at Pittsburgh when they swamped the Illinois Wesleyan quintet by a 42-25 margin to hit the 50-50 mark for the season with two victories and two defeats.

Don Budge became the target for criticism at Sydney, Australia, yesterday when apparent lazy play permitted Germany's Baron Gottfried von Cramm to defeat him 6-1, 6-3 in an exhibition net match. Ten thousand spectators watched the tennis game.

YOUNG YANKEES WIN
Young Yankees edged out a 24-Kerr victory at the expense of the Shamrocks. The Yanks held a lead throughout the game which was fast as well as exciting. Scungio, Turk and Nativio were outstanding for the winners while Kelly, Pava and Kimmel were the best bets for the losers. For games with the Yanks call Anthony George, phone 2979-R or see Carl Scungio.

Harman Quits Job At Penn

Former Pitt Star Has Quit
Coaching Job At U.
Of Penn.

HAS BEEN COACH
FOR MANY YEARS

HARVEY HARMAN

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—Harvey J. Harman, head coach of football at the University of Pennsylvania since 1931, has resigned.

Harman, who is enroute to New Orleans for the annual conference of the National Coaches' Association, and university officials, now away from the campus on Christmas vacations, could not be reached for comment or verification of the report.

Dr. Thomas S. Gates, president of the institution and originator of the Gates plan for deemphasizing football which brought Harman to Penn, will announce receipt of the resignation in the near future, the report said.

During last season Penn lost five games, was held to a tie by Little Georgetown and won gridiron victories from Maryland and Navy. The Red and Blue's conquerors were Yale, Penn State, Michigan, Columbia and Cornell.

Warner Student
Before the season was half over a large group of the alumni was again clamoring against the Penn tutor.

Harman, a pupil of Glenn S. "Pop" Warner while student at Pitt, coached at Haverford College for eight years—1922-29 inclusive—and served a year as head gridiron mentor at Sewanee before taking over the task at Penn.

The Penn alumni strongly favors the graduate system of coaching and according to reports Harman's post may go to Rae McGraw, present coach of the junior varsity; George Munger, Penn freshman coach; Dr. Jonathan K. Miller or Simon F. Pautis, backfield and end coaches of the varsity respectively.

Several Mentioned
Philadelphia, Dec. 28.—Alumni of the University of Pennsylvania today were reported divided in their choice of a new football mentor as an aftermath of the sudden but not entirely unexpected resignation of Harvey J. Harman, head of the gridiron coaching staff for seven years.

In the face of a strong sentiment in favor of the graduate-coaching system, another group of the alumni declared Penn needs a "big name" tutor to restore the red and blue to its former prestige.

Harman was Penn's first non-graduate head coach since 1887. During his seven-year reign, the Quakers won 31 games, lost 23, and were tied twice. His resignation followed a disastrous 1937 campaign which saw the Penn eleven drop five games while winning two and tying one.

Announcement Shortly
On the heels of Harman's resignation, Dr. Thomas S. Gates, president of the institution, said "announcement of the coaching arrangements for the next football season will be made shortly by the university."

Meanwhile, speculation was rife. Among those prominently mentioned for the post are De Benneville (Bert) Bell, a Penn graduate and backfield coach at his alma mater from 1920 to 1928; Henry J. (Heinie) Miller, another Penn graduate and one-time head coach at Temple; Hooks Mylin, whose Lafayette team just completed an unbeaten and untied drive, and several of Harman's assistants. The latter are Si Pautis, line coach; Moss Miller, backfield tutor, and George Munger, freshman mentor.

Bel, who was head coach at Temple before Pop Warner took over the post in 1933, is now president-coach of the Eagles, Philadelphia's entry in the national professional league, and Heinie Miller is head coach of football at St. Joseph's college, Philadelphia.

New Castle Boy
Following the 1936 season when Penn won seven while losing only one game, Harman was given a three-year contract at a salary purportedly calling for $7,500 annually. Prior to his appointment the graduate coaching system was in vogue at Penn and many influential alumni declare the post should again go to a former Quaker.

Harman, a native of New Castle, Pa., a graduate of Pitt and a protégé of Pop Warner, was football coach at Haverford college and the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn., before he took over at Penn when the "Gates plan," designed to eliminate overemphasis on football, was put in operation.

Despite several clashes with various other athletic executives at Penn and frequent attempts of an alumni group to oust him, Harman's career at the university was one of the longest in the institution's football history.

Harman is well known here, having played football here at New Castle high many years ago, before going to Pittsburgh, and later to Pitt.

Mann Signs For
Bout With Louis
(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Nathan Mann, Connecticut puncher, Monday signed a contract for his 15-round title bout with heavyweight champion Joe Louis on February 23.

Mann previously had accepted the match after several days of dickering, and today's signing was scarcely more than a formality. Both he and Louis still must sign before the boxing commission.

Promoter Mike Jacobs said the latter ritual would take place upon Louis' arrival here within the next few weeks to begin training.

On a giant score card, Cornelius McGillicuddy, better known as Connie Mack, veteran manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, marks off his 75th milestone while attending birthday party given him in Philadelphia. Champions Crowned And Uncrowned In '37

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Many champions were crowned and uncrowned during 1937—a year which produced increased interest in nearly all fields.

TRACK AND FIELD
Glenn Cunningham's place out in front of the mileers finally met with a real threat in the person of Archie San Romani, like Cunningham, a Kansan. However, it was only a threat with Cunningham finishing the year still regarded as the master, sharing the big spotlight with Don Lash, who continued at the head of the two-mile pack. The latter and Johnny Woodruff, crack half-mile, both failed when they tried the mile route.

Outstanding in field events was the continued lifting of the pole vault ceiling by George Varoff, Earl Meadows and Bill Shafon, who soared beyond 14 feet.

POLO
Greentree came to the end of the trail as U. S. open champions before the rush of Old Westbury, powered by Cecil Smith and Stewart Ingelman, the latter likewise playing stellar roles in the overthrow of the Argentine for the international trophy.

AUTO RACING
After years of effort, Wilbur Shaw finally won the Indianapolis "500" before the biggest crowd of the year—170,000. He nosed out Ralph Hepburn, another veteran with an average of 113 miles an hour. Capt. George Eyston fitted himself into the auto picture with a 311 mile an hour dash in Utah to break Sir Malcolm Campbell's land speed record and another foreigner, Bernd Rosemeyer of Germany, took the Roosevelt Raceway 300-mile grind.

YACHTING
A notable foreign failure during the year was T. O. M. Sopwith who was beaten three straight for the America's cup. His Endeavour II never had a chance against Mike Vanderbilt and Ranger at Newport, R. I. American craft, crew and skipper all proving superior.

MOTOR BOATING
Outstanding motorboating event was Sir Malcolm Campbell's dash of 129.5 miles per hour to a new world speed record on Lake Maggiore, Switzerland. The Gold Cup and President's Cup races both were won by H. L. Mendelson's Notre Dame, while Gar Wood, Jr., continued in the footsteps of his famous father by winning two national amateur championships. The fastest competitive mark of the year was 71.446 miles an hour set on one Gold Cup lap by Count Theo Rossi in the Gold Cup races.

HOCKEY
The Detroit Red Wings continued to prove that stars are not essential to success, their "startless" team beating the New York Rangers to retain the Stanley cup.

ROWING
University of Washington coached by Al Ulbrickson, maintained its position at the head of the intercollegiate fleet, repeating its conquests of 1936 in the Poughkeepsie regatta by again sweeping all three events—varsity, junior varsity and freshman.

WRESTLING
Popularity of wrestling waned slightly, with—as usual—half dozen claimants to the world title. Outstanding were Bronko Nagurski, the Chicago Bear fullback of professional football and Jim Londos, who came out of retirement to again claim the crown.

BILLIARDS
The perennial, Willie Hoppe and Ralph Greenleaf, remained tops in their respective fields, the former at balking play—18-2 and 71-2—and Greenleaf at the pocket game.

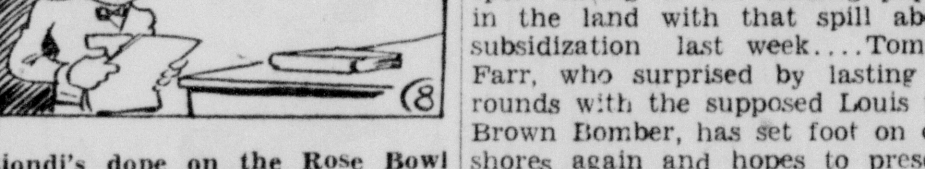

BASKETBALL
One of the biggest years in the history of basketball was enjoyed throughout the nation. Pittsburgh won in the East, Notre Dame was outstanding among the non-conference mid-western teams, and Minnesota and Illinois were conference co-champions. Rhode Island State was tops in New England, Georgia Tech won in the Southeastern and Washington and Lee in the Southern. Stanford won the playoff with Washington State for the Coast conference crown.

A note from "Sunny California" . . . from Joseph Biondi, a former New Castle resident, now publicity manager and chairman of the tournament committee of the Los Angeles Metropolitan Tennis Championships, arrived the following letter yesterday morning. . . I wanted to wait and see how Benny Ciccone's Cincinnati Bengals made out before writing you. . . They gave the L. A. Bulldogs the toughest game of any team to appear here this season. . . Benny played about three quarters of the game, backing up the right side of the line on defense. . . though they lost 14-3 neither of the scores were made over this side. . . He gave a fine exhibition all afternoon, one time stopping "Crazylegs" Stark, (the shiftiest runner in these parts, bar none), when only he was between Stark and a touchdown. . . and what's more, the way he spilled him!

A brief roundup of sports . . . coaches throughout the land will gather in New Orleans this week to tear apart the rules book. . . several of the pilots will endeavor to get a rule passed to stop what they term "merciless and reckless punishment" dished out to forward passers. . . Jess Quatse, who played at Taggart stadium with Greensburg, hit the sport sheets of the leading papers in the land with that split about subsidizing last week. . . Tommy Farr, who surprised by lasting 15 rounds with the supposed Louis the Brown Bomber, has set foot on our shores again and hopes to present Britain with the heavyweight title. . . local fans will have their own bowl game here New Year's day. . . the Catholics and Strollers, a pair of Independent clubs, will strut justification for such odds in a game of this kind. . . there is absolutely no basis for comparison. . . "Cal" has been a hot first half team all season. . . Whereas, Alabama has won three of its hardest games in the last few minutes of play. . . unless one knows how the morals of each squad shapes up, he can only guess. . . However, judging from one look I got of "Cal," I would say they are the nearest things to a Pitt type team I have seen. . . I feel they have sufficient all around strength to win. . . Sincerely, Joe Biondi. . . P. S. I like the idea of your new column. . . Thank you Joe. . .

Biondi's dope on the Rose Bowl affair. . . California bettors have installed the western team as a 2-1 favorite over Alabama. . . evidently, they want to spur the "Crimson Tide" to victory. . . there is never their stuff on the Rosena ground cinders. . . oh, yes, the name of the bowl. . . the Tin City Bowl. . .

The baseball circle. . . Tris Speaker, one of the great outfielders of all time, came forth with the prediction that Bob Feller, young Cleveland hurler, has possibilities of winning 25 to 35 ball games. . . Steve O'Neil, former Indian pilot, doubts it. . . Newark had a lad last season who was strictly a night ball player. . . Atley Donald, pitcher, went to the slab eight times after the sun went down, and failed to lose. . . the season is around the corner as far as Cincinnati is concerned. . . tickets are already on sale for the opener. . .

You might like to know that. . . two time pieces will be used in the Ice Bowl tussle. . . one is known as a sextant, used by sea captains to "shoot the sun" while the other will be a regular watch. . . Marshall college of West Virginia spanked Long Island U. after the Longies had won 13 straight in two seasons of basketball. . . a trusty goal keeper is Bartram of the Charlton soccer team, England. . . he struck to his post for sometime not knowing that the game had been called off due to one of the worst fogs in London since 1904. . . the incident occurred during Christmas. . . Dartmouth has 14 cagers over six feet in height and also one of the sweetest quintets in the East. . . Bing Crosby's horse, High Strike, copped the first race at Santa Anita on Christmas Day. . .

Emptying out the question box. . . To Tommy: the letters A. P. B. A. stand for American Power Boat Association. . . To Eddie: No, Long Island is not undefeated. Marshall college recently tripped the Longies. . . To Pat: George Keogan, is basketball coach at Notre Dame. . . To "Mac" Johnny Revolta recently won the Miami-Biltmore tourney. . . Note: Brief contributions or questions will be welcomed.

K. Pulaski To Play Aliquippa Here Tonight

The fast K. Pulaski basketball team of the Oakland district, will battle the Aliquippa Piodenics at the K. P. hall tonight, it was announced by Business Manager Teddy Kolec. The preliminary game will send the K. Pulaski "B" team into action at 7:30 o'clock with the Cameron Five, formerly the Union Ex-High Stars.

On the Cameron Five will be the Marshall brothers of Bensenville, Pa. Monoco, Chialullo, Chill and Annerella brothers, who will make up the lineup.

The K. P. "Big Five" will have a tough game as the Piodenics are the league leaders in the Beaver valley. The visitors will have a lot of Aliquippa ex-high stars and college players in the lineup. Coach Sloernick will start his strongest possible lineup in an effort to take the measure of this powerful quintet from the Beaver valley.

Will Seek To Aid Family

On Friday, a representative from each Italian organization met at the Sons of Italy home and laid out plans to provide funds for the benefit of the Cipriano family.

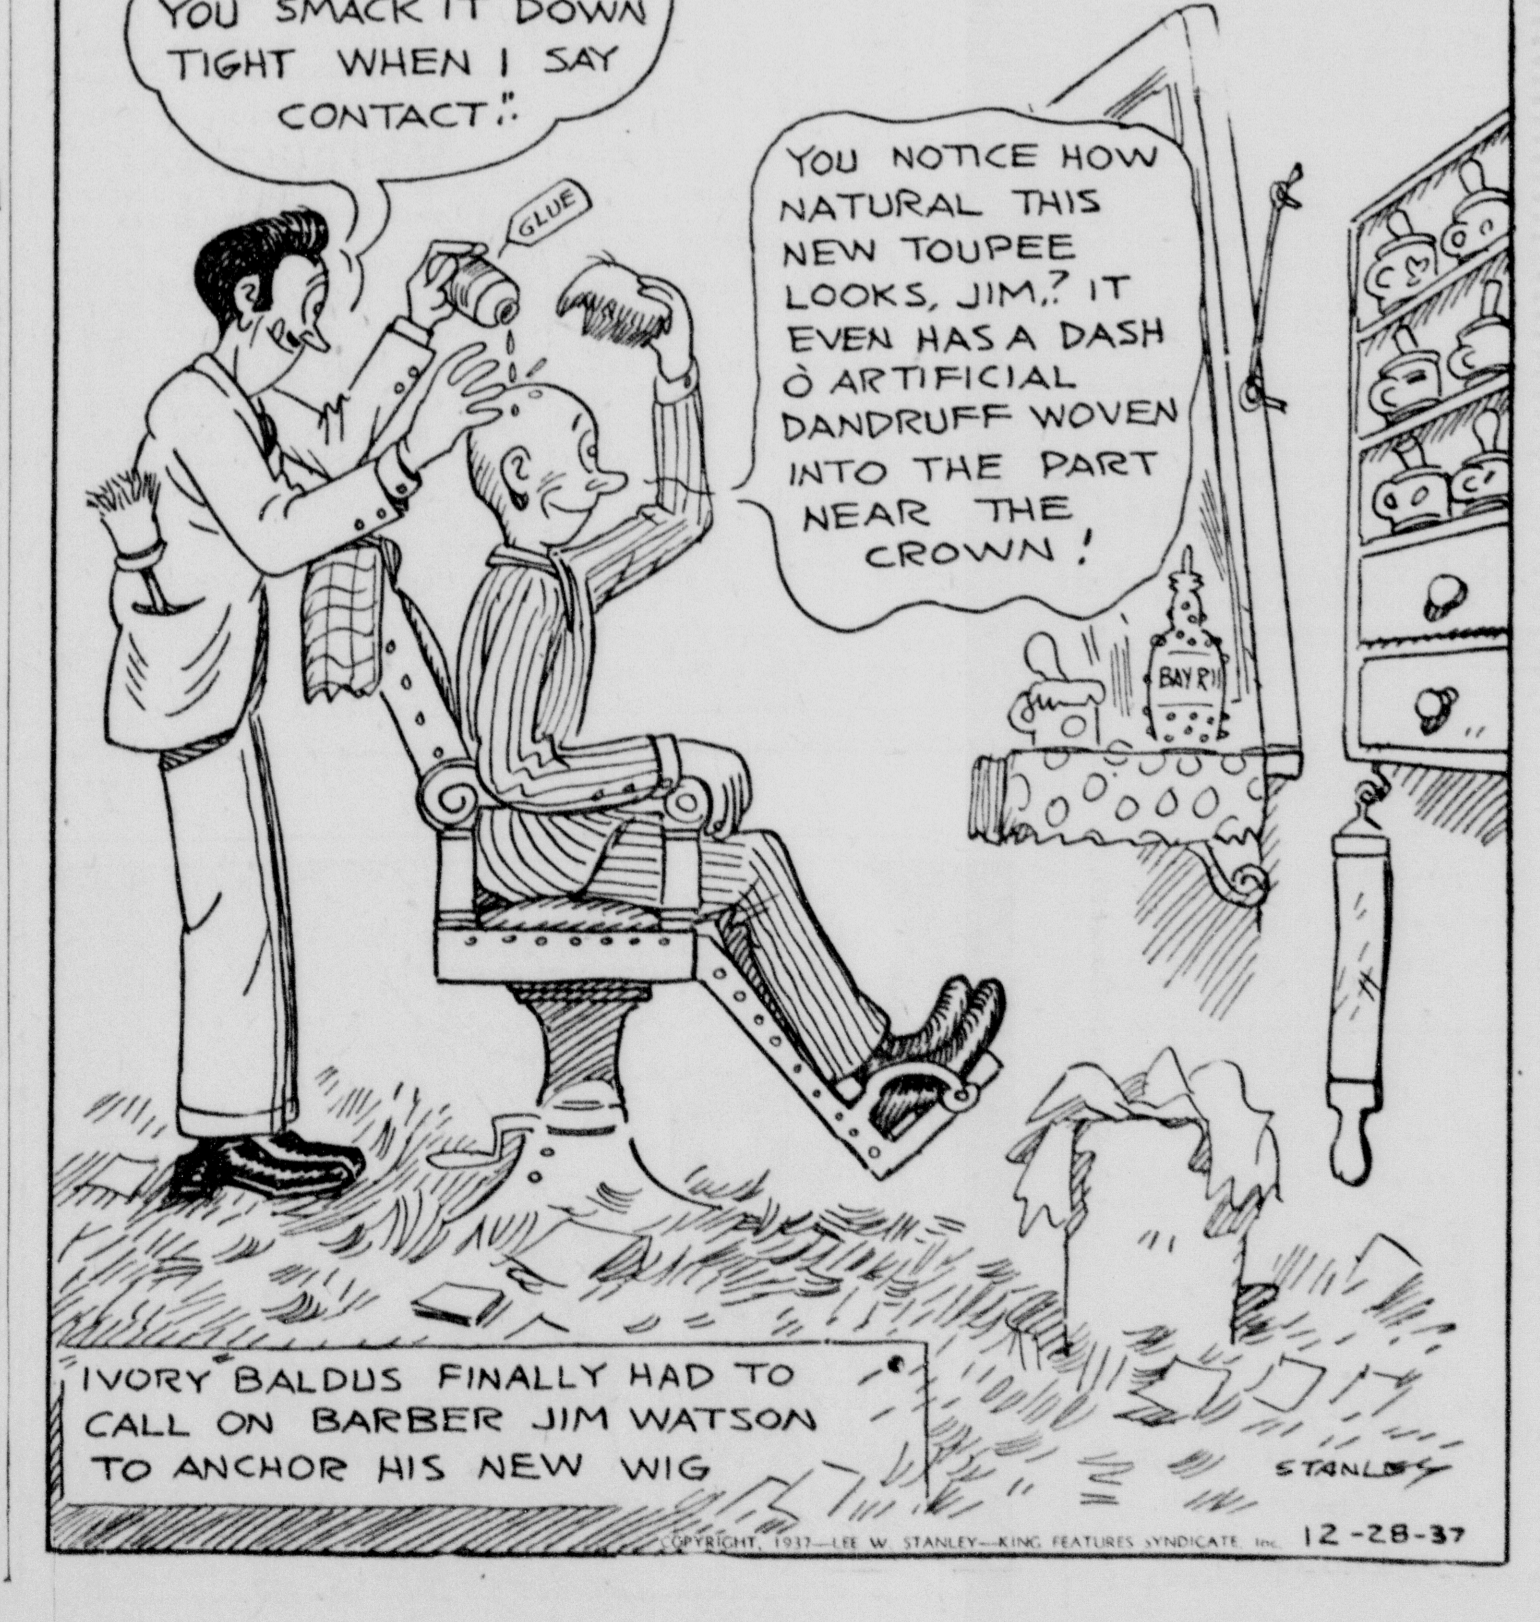

About a month ago the Cipriano family met with a terrible accident on their way to Meadville, Pa., to attend the funeral of a relative. Mr.

and Mrs. Cipriano lost two daughters in this accident and are themselves still under the doctor's care and in serious condition.

The head of each organization will meet again on January 9 at 7 p. m. at the Sons of Italy home and will select committees to solicit the city. In the near future the well known business, professional and good-hearted people of the city will be approached and asked to contribute to this humanitarian cause for the benefit of the unfortunate Cipriano family.

IVORY BALDUS FINALLY HAD TO CALL ON BARBER JIM WATSON TO ANCHOR HIS NEW WIG

STANLEY

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Just a word to that chubby cherub who will be popping in on us almost any day now as the bewhiskered old curmudgeon with the oversized sickle moves offstage. . . Listen, Kid 1938, there are a lot of game guys in this world of sports to whom Old Man 1937 gave no kind of a break. . . how about letting them come out from behind that eight-ball for a couple of innings? . . . Who are they? . . . Well, I've got a list here as long as Old Man 1937's beard, but the first one I can think of is Connie Mack. . . he's an old school gentleman and a fighter who at 75 still is able to forget 1914 and 1929 when he had great ball clubs, and to look ahead. . . still in there swinging. . . you know how it is. . . make me a little sentimental about all this. . . but we'd like to see old Connie have one more day in the light.

My next candidate for some good breaks in the New Year is Dizzy Dean. . . certainly Dizzy went beyond himself there far a while and kicked the world around a bit. . . he forgot what size hat he wore, popped off out of turn, made a sort of general all-around mess of things. . . but Old Man 1937 showed him his place. . . and I think Dizzy has learned by now that we're just a bunch of animated dust, after all, and not Olympian deities or Sir Oracles. . . Old Man 1937 put him through the mill, and I hope you'll give us a bigger and better Dizzy beauty is a joy for ever. . . Kid, and when Old Dizzy hauled back and fogged that fast one down the slot he really did something for the memory book.

And The Boy From Iowa
A thing of beauty is a joy forever (we are simply submerged by that line this evening, folk), and that's one reason why we'd like to have Bob Feller's high hard one restored in its original form. . . We were beginning to write the story of another Walter Johnson when in the first game of the season Old Man 1937 cut down the lad from Iowa right at the elbow. . . and for months the youngster tasted the dregs of despair. . . Bob kept on trying, which is all that angels or men can do, and finally a bone-setter snapped that twisted joint back into place. . . as the season ended, he was beginning to come back. . . If he can return just a little bit farther with your help, Kid 1938, we'll be in your corner.

Give Cliff Melton a break, too. . . after his great pitching helped the Giants to win a pennant, he bogged down in the world series before the booming warclubs of the Yanks. . . he has what it takes, with a little more luck. . . Gabby Street is another we'd like to see treated to one of Dame Fortune's toothiest grins. . . He was canned by a minor league club in mid-season and as the old lad went west "to enjoy a vacation," we thought of that picture of the Indian on the horse, and we're sure that the day's disorders and life in general. . . but he has taken a new lease on life as manager of the Browns. . . give him a couple of ball players who can negotiate the distance between the bench and home plate without the aid of crutches and there's no telling how far the Old Sarge will go.

Horses Have Hearts, Too
Let Pompon have a few breaks, too. . . there's a horse that might have been great if it hadn't been for the presence of War Admiral. . . down in Kentucky they say horses have hearts. . . So let him have a quick break and the rail for a while and see if he really can go to town, Kid 1938. . . I think he can.

Jimmy Wilson, manager of the Phils; Bucky Harris, of the Senators; Casey Stengel, of the Bees; Frankie Frisch, of the Cardinals—all they need is one or two little breaks to make the world forget that 1937 wasn't so good. . . Don't overlook Sam Sneed, either. . . All he needed for fame in 1937 was two or three puts that just rolled around the rim of the cup and hung. . . Blow 'em in for the boy, Kid 1938, make 'em pop into that little bucket.

I know I'm forgetting to name a whole raft of brave gentlemen to whom Old Man 1937 gave nothing but the wrong answers. . . Be nice to them all, Kid 1938. . . Okay O'Neil, bang those bells!

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—The stock market continued weak today, leaders adding losses of as much as 2 points to the previous session's break of 1 to more than 4. Trading was at a more active pace, with several large blocks of stock changing hands in early dealings.

U. S. Steel opened 2½ points lower on a block of 4,000 shares at 54½. It got back to above 55 for a while, but returned to its opening level later in the forenoon. Bethlehem lost well over 2 in the electrical equipment and Eastman Kodak slumped more than 4 at one time.

New lows for the year once more were sprinkled liberally through the list. Included were such representative issues as Chrysler and General Motors in the auto department; Standard Oil of California; American Tobacco "B"; Gimbel Bros. and Macy in the merchandising section; Loew's in the amusements; Schenck in the liquors; Borden in the foods; Great Northern in the rails; American Can; B. M. T.; and Industrial Rayon and Celanese in the textile group.

Heavy losses were shown in the chemicals. Allied Chemical dropped well over 2 points along with Du Pont, while Air Reduction slipped a point. Westinghouse electrical tumbled more than 2 in the electrical equipment and Eastman Kodak slumped more than 4 at one time.

Resumption of trading in London after the lengthy Christmas holiday found American shares lower in sympathy with the break here. Amsterdam and Paris markets also were reactionary.

Commodities were generally listless. Grains edged moderately, while cotton lost a few points from previous closing levels. Reactionary tendencies prevailed in the bond market.

Employment Workers Get Instructions

A two-day "instruction conference" for over 75 employees of Pennsylvania's new Unemployment Compensation and Employment Service offices in District 5—Lawrence, Beaver, Butler and Mercer counties—opened this afternoon at the court house.

From Harrisburg came H. Raymond Mason, field supervisor of the employment service, to preside over the "workers' school."

Local officials closed simultaneously with the coming of the conference group, the local headquarters of District 5, on the second floor of the Citizens Bank Building, closed for the meeting.

The office, officials said, will remain closed Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Details of their jobs will be fully explained to the service employees by skilled officers.

The group is meeting in court room No. 2.

Miss Clara Ritchey
Becomes Bride Of
Elder A. Anderson

Beautiful Wedding Solemnized
Monday Afternoon In First
U. P. Church

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 28.—One of the loveliest weddings of the year took place on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the First United Presbyterian church, when Miss Clara M. Ritchey, of Lawrence avenue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Ritchey, of Cleveland, and Elder A. Anderson, son of Mrs. W. Anderson, of Ninth street, were united in holy matrimony.

For the occasion, the church was resplendent in Yuletide decorations. Several hundred relatives and friends assembled in the church to witness the ceremony which was performed by Rev. W. E. Minter, pastor of the church.

The wedding march and nuptial selections preceded the ceremony with Miss Marjorie Streeter, presiding at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was beautiful in a period model of ivory velvet fashioned with a high neckline, long fitted sleeves and a train. Her finger-tip veil was held in place with semences de perles. She carried an arm bouquet of white Killarney roses.

The bride's attendants were gown-like in floor length transparent velvet with matching turbans.

Mrs. H. R. Sumner was selected as matron of honor and wore Caprice velvet and her bouquet was of Johanna Hill roses and sweet peas.

Mrs. William Goehring, Jr., and Lillian Anderson, sister of the bridegroom, wore Perle velvet, and Mrs. R. J. Schill and Miss Evelyn Anderson, another sister of the bridegroom, wore Vatican purple velvet. The bridesmaids' bouquets were alike and consisted of Tallisman roses and Enphorbia.

Crawford Anderson served his brother as best man and the ushers were: Dr. H. R. Sumner, William Goehring, Jr., R. J. Schill and Lawrence Sumner.

Mrs. J. R. Ritchey, mother of the bride, was gowned in black velvet and wore a shoulder corsage of gardenias and Mrs. W. Anderson, mother of the groom, wore black velvet and her corsage was of gardenias.

Following the congratulatory period a wedding reception was held for a large number of relatives and friends at the local Country Club. Many out-of-town relatives attended the wedding and reception, a number coming from New Castle, Beaver Valley, Cleveland, Youngstown and Mars.

Yuletide and bridal appointments cleverly arranged blended beautifully to form a fitting setting for the reception. The bride's table was centered with a large tiered wedding cake. Flanking either side with candelabras of lighted tapers. The small tables were adorned with individual wedding cakes.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Anderson have a wide assemblage of friends in this district who wish them every happiness. Mrs. Anderson has been a history teacher in the local high school for a number of years. Mr. Anderson is affiliated with the Arnold Young Motor Company.

Later in the evening the couple departed on a wedding trip to New York City and other eastern points. For travelling, the bride selected a stylish black ensemble. Returning home, they will reside in the Porter apartments in Lawrence avenue.

Testifying to the esteem and affection of which they are held, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson have been presented with an array of gorgeous gifts for use in their new home.

Skating Party Is Planned By Troop

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 28.—On Thursday afternoon members of the Nightingale troop of girl scouts will hold a skating party beginning at 1:30 p. m. according to plans made at the weekly meeting held on Monday night in the basement of the First U. P. church.

Mrs. Frank Gross, captain and Miss Alida Newton and Miss Doris Cooper, leaders, attended as did a large number of the troop members.

Patrol corners were followed by nature, signalling and 5-points of health classes with a good-night circle concluding this week's meeting.

Monday evening, January 3, the next meeting will be held. Violet Mackey, scribe.

Ellport Couple Has
39th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McCaslin
Quietly Celebrate Wedding Date

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McCaslin quietly celebrated their 39th wedding anniversary on Friday evening, December 24, at their home, in Ellport, in the form of a family gathering.

The evening was spent in a delightful, informal manner with conversation and music as the diversions. At the close of the evening, a tempting repast, featuring a prettily decorated anniversary cake, was served.

Sharing the event were: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McCaslin and son, Mrs. William Clyde, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. McConahy and family, of this vicinity, and Mr. and Mrs. Burns White and family of Kinsman, O.

Mr. and Mrs. McCaslin were presented with an array of very lovely gifts as remembrances of the happy occasion.

Football Banquet
Program Plans
Are Announced

Many Football Notables To Participate In Community
Tribute, January 5

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 28.—Plans are rapidly shaping up for what promises to be Ellwood City's most outstanding and successful football banquet honoring the entire 1937 squad and their coaches, Thurman Croft and Howard Gills, to be held on Wednesday evening, January 5, at the Shelby club house.

Ellwood City high school's most ardent and loyal supporter, Andy Biorci, a prominent and well-known former high school athlete, is sponsoring the affair and is leaving nothing undone to make it surpass the other four banquets he has held for former high school football squads.

Bill Kern, Carnegie Tech mentor, and a popular banquet speaker, will be the principal speaker, which is a top-notch drawing card alone not to mention Clapper Smith and Burd Donnell, Duquesne University coaches, Alex Fox, Pitt's line coach, and Edgar Weltner, Geneva college coach.

In addition to the previously mentioned notables, definite arrangements have been made to have Marshall Goldberg, Pitt's All-American star, attend the banquet and participate in the program. Mr. Biorci is going into Pittsburgh to bring Goldberg to the banquet, so that "banqueters" will not be disappointed in any last minute changes in the program.

"Denny" Schill has been selected to serve as toastmaster and those who plan to attend know from past experience that the presiding ability of Mr. Schill will add greatly to the memorable occasion. Rev. W. E. Minter, pastor of the First U. P. church, will give the invocation.

A splendid out-of-town orchestra has been engaged to provide appropriate dinner music.

Through his affiliation with the movie companies, Mr. Biorci will be permitted to show films of all the important college games of the past season and will also show another movie.

Phil Tammaro, former Lincoln high school football star, and a varsity quarterback of Carnegie Tech, will share honors with the football squad. During the banquet, he will be presented with a handsome Gladstone bag by the local Sons of Italy.

Twenty-four of the high school lettermen will be presented with gold plated football emblems with E. C. H. S. in blue enameled letters and the year 1937 inscribed underneath the letters, as the personal gift of Mr. Biorci.

Members of the Board of Education are joining in the community tribute to the players and members of the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs plan to attend in a body.

While only four hundred persons can be accommodated and many reservations have been made, some tickets still remain and can be secured up to and including Saturday by contacting Mr. Biorci.

The affair, which will get under way at 6 o'clock, is for both men and women.

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 28.—Miss Grace Marie Marshall, aged 32 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall, of Pleasant Hill, passed away at Cresson Sanitarium on Monday afternoon after a long illness.

Miss Marshall had resided her entire life-time at Pleasant Hill and has a wide circle of friends who will regret to learn of her passing.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by three brothers, Ralph, at home; Ray, of Perry Township, and Clair, of New Jersey state; and one sister, Mrs. Blanche Hesig, of New Castle.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock from the Wurtemburg Methodist church. Burial will be made in the Wurtemburg cemetery.

Reeva Shapiro Weds
William Berkowitz

Wedding Is Solemnized In Ball
Room Of Hotel Schenley
In Pittsburgh

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 28.—In the ball room of Hotel Schenley, Pittsburgh, Sunday, December 26, the marriage of Miss Reeva Shapiro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Shapiro, of this city, to William Berkowitz, son of Mrs. P. Berkowitz, of Braddock, was solemnized.

Officiating under a canopy of ferns and palms was Rabbi Hailpern, of the Tree of Life congregation. The ceremony took place at 2 o'clock in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was very lovely in a beautiful gown of green satin with brown accessories and she carried an arm cluster of green orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss Ruth Berkowitz, sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's only attendant, and appeared in white crepe and her bouquet was of white gardenias.

Donald D. Shapiro, of this city, brother of the bride, served as best man.

Later in the afternoon a reception and dance was held for 250 guests after which Mr. and Mrs. Berkowitz departed on an eastern wedding trip.

Bond Issue Bid
Is Awarded To Pittsburgh Firm

Premium Of $882.50 Accepted
On $25,000 Bond Issue
For City Improvements

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 28.—Ellwood City council held their short meeting in many months, lasting less than fifteen minutes, on Monday evening to award the $25,000 bond issue for street and sewer improvements.

There were six bids and the highest offered a premium of $882.50. This offer by S. K. Cunningham and Company, of Pittsburgh, was accepted and approved by unanimous vote.

The street improvements including the pavement of a part of Pittsburgh Circle and a part of Tenth street and the remainder of the money was used for the placement of various storm sewers about the town.

After adjournment an informal discussion was held concerning the adjustment of the city employees, that is the fire and police department, to conform with the 44 hour week that will go into effect on Monday, January 3. Members of the council agreed to approve any method that can be worked out by Burgess R. T. Sider and Burgess-elect William McGlinchy, until the new council meets on Monday evening, January 3.

At the meeting on Monday evening, the new councilmen will be inducted into office and new officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

Rabbi Shenson Is Given Honor

Testimonial Banquet For Elderly Member Of Tifereth Israel Synagogue

RABBI MANELLO IS GUEST SPEAKER

For his faithful and untiring service to Tifereth Israel synagogue during the past 25 years as rabbi, member and friend, Rabbi Cecil Shenson was honored at a testimonial dinner by the congregation Sunday evening, a dinner attended by a great throng of friends.

The affair, sponsored by the Tifereth Israel Sisterhood, was a touching demonstration of the warmth of affection Rabbi Shenson has engendered in the hearts of all who have worked at his side during the quarter century. Some expression of the esteem he has won was given in the remarks of the persons appearing on the banquet program.

It was an excellently planned evening for which much credit goes to Mrs. Harry Pitroff, president of the Sisterhood; Mrs. H. Waldman, chairman of the banquet; Mrs. J. Pearl Zieve, co-chairman; Mrs. J. Cobb, chairman of tickets, and their many helpers, among them the following aides at the dinner table: Mrs. J. Moresky, Mrs. Baila Levine, Mrs. Sam Wolfe, Mrs. A. Katz, Mrs. P. Alpern, Mrs. H. Solomon, Mrs. H. Rosenberg, Mrs. B. Levine, Mrs. J. Wolfe, Mrs. A. Shapiro, Mrs. S. Slovinsky and Mrs. L. F. Cohen; and the following decoration committee: Marie Dorothy Miller, Erwin Master, Sherman Samuels and Jack Rogovin.

Innovation at the opening was given by the spiritual leader of Tifereth Israel, Rabbi Pincho Katz, who also served as toastmaster of the occasion.

The musical program consisted of a piano solo by Jeannette Kulkin and a violin solo by Harry Moresky. After serving of the delicious banquet menu, address of welcome was given by Maurice Samuels, president of the synagogue.

A newcomer to the city, Rabbi

Jacob M. Epstein, recently returned from Palestine, brought greetings to the assemblage and words of commendation to Rabbi Shenson.

Marcus Feuchtwanger, president of Temple Israel, Dr. Eliah Kaplan; Mrs. Harry Pitroff; Sam Shenson, son of the honored rabbi, from Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. Levy, a daughter, from Lexington, Ky.; and Rabbi Helfgott, of Ellwood City, followed with remarks appropriate to the occasion.

Congratulatory letters and telegrams were read, among them a missive from Secretary Sigler of the synagogue.

Rabbi Carl Manello, of Temple Emanuel, Youngstown, O., was then introduced as the principal speaker of the occasion. He gave an impressive address in which he pointed out the fallacy of negative Judaism and advocated the policy of positive Judaism in the future.

Toward the end of the program Rabbi Katz presented the honored member, Rabbi Shenson, with a set of two books containing the biography of one of the greatest rabbis of the generation, Israel Meier, a gift of the congregation. Benediction was given by Rabbi Epstein.

Three Judges To Make Visit To Crime Scene

ELYRIA, O., Dec. 28.—The three common pleas judges before whom Alexander Maneff, 21-year-old hitch-hiker of West Homestead, Pa., will be tried for the sex murder of near-by Grafton, will visit the scene of the crime when the case opens here Wednesday morning.

This was reported Monday by Common Pleas Judge Guy B. Findley, who with Judges D. A. Cook of Elyria and Charles R. Sargent of Jefferson, will hear the case.

Dr. Arthur G. Hyde, superintendent of Massillon State Hospital for the Insane and a noted psychiatrist, will be here Wednesday morning to examine the prisoner as to his sanity before the case opens. Dr. Hyde was called into the case by Judge Findley as an impartial witness.

The question of the defendants' sanity was raised by Defense Attorney Elias G. Thomas of Lorain, who pointed out that Maneff's mother was in an institution in Pennsylvania.

Prosecutor Howard R. Butler said he would oppose any effort to establish insanity as a defense by calling witnesses to show that the defendants past conduct was not that of an insane person. One such witness would be the police chief of West Homestead, Butler said.

Maneff pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with first degree murder but later changed his plea to not guilty. He became involved in the case when arrested at Navarre, O., an auto thief suspect, he surprisingly confessed the Grafton murder.

Report Driver Admits Car Killed Man

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 28.—Nick Stefane, 27, of suburban Campbell confessed that his car killed Ernest Macekovic, 57, on a Campbell street Christmas Eve. Police Chief Ray Cunningham reported.

Cunningham said that Stefane's automobile also was involved early this year in an accident, in which three men died near Youngstown.

Stefane came to Cunningham with his story, the chief said, because he had worried about the accident.

Macekovic was left lying by the roadside by the hit-and-run driver. Stefane was charged with manslaughter.

On weekdays, 185 trains arrive and depart every 24 hours from the Union station at St. Louis, Mo.

POLITICS MAY TAIN MUSIC

Noted American Conductor Eugene Goossens, Of Cincinnati Speaks

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—American music is in danger today of becoming tainted with politics, in the opinion of the noted American conductor, Eugene Goossens, of the Cincinnati symphony orchestra.

"There is a tendency, said Goossens, to follow the European example and 'use music as a political big stick.' Music is here to conduct the new Pittsburgh symphony orchestra.

"There is a group of young composers here who are using music as a kind of social propaganda, developing their music on a literary basis," he said. "The struggle between the two camps is having and all the abstract ideas that are pinned down as with political labels should be definitely kept out of art."

Concerning jazz, Goossens smilingly said it was "good fun in the dance hall," and that, he added, "is where it belongs." It has no real lasting effect on "the part and parcel of the artistic setup," he said.

"All the young American composers have taken a shot at pulling this unfortunate thing called jazz into their music, at experimenting with it to express the spirit of the times."

But, he admitted, "you know I can't tell the difference between the jazz of the twenties and this thing called 'swing music' they're playing now. And that's what I saw pictures of in a magazine—what do you call it—the Big Apple, what the kind of music do they play for it?"

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A large group of boys and girls gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Galletta on Saturday evening in honor of their son Frank's 15th birthday anniversary. Four Injured In "Freak" Accident At Pittsburgh (International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—A Jeannette truck driver lay seriously injured today, struck by another truck as he attempted to aid three injured women whose car had collided with his on the Westinghouse Memorial bridge at East Pittsburgh.

The truck driver, Orville Dibley, 26, suffered a possible fractured skull and severe arm cuts. He was taken to Bradco General hospital. Police reported Dibley was helping Anna McGuffey of West Newton, her sister Agnes McGuffey and Mrs. Esther Louise Maus of Irwin from the machine of Arthur Maus when he was struck by a truck driven by Lloyd Smith of Turtle Creek.

Mrs. Maus suffered a dislocated right knee and both ankles sprained while the McGuffey sisters received minor injuries. Maus and Smith were not hurt.

Coroner's Jury To Probe Death Of Bandit Victim

FRANKLIN, Pa., Dec. 28.—Probing the recent death of Fred Porter, 64, Clintonville merchant, of head injuries, an inquest will be held today in Clintonville, with Coroner J. Irvin Zerbe in charge.

Porter died December 17, in the Jameson Memorial hospital, New Castle, several weeks after he had been slugged by three hold-up men outside the Kohlmeier general store in Clintonville, the bandits fleeing with $144 in cash.

The Good Will Bible class will hold their Christmas dinner and meeting at New Wilmington, Pa., on Thursday evening, December 30. After the dinner the remainder of the evening will be spent in a sociable good time.

Edwin Nelson, student at North Park seminary at Chicago, Ill., will speak in the Bessemer First Presbyterian church on Sunday evening, January 2, at 8. Mr. Nelson is a local boy and is well known. A good attendance is desired.

The Christmas party of the Frances Griffin Bible class will be held at the home of Mrs. S. M. Ruehle on Wednesday evening, December 29, with Mrs. H. M. Murphy, Mrs. Fred Watson and Mrs. H. S. White as hostesses. There are a number of helpers. An exchange of gifts will be featured.

Christmas Eve guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Carlson of Overlook Lane were Herbert Carlson and Miss Ruth Smart of Youngstown, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Carlson and son of Bessemer, Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Carlson and children Ardeth and John Lester of Youngstown.

Rattlesnakes, which are found throughout the Western hemisphere, are not found elsewhere.

Drunken Drivers Face Long Terms

MEADVILLE, Pa., Dec. 28.—Serving notice that a stiffer punishment may be in store for drunken drivers arrested in Crawford county, Judge O. Clare Kent ordered two men to serve 90-day jail terms and pay $100 fines each, in a brief session of sentence court here today.

Crawford county's customary sentence for drunken driving has been 60 days in jail and $100 fine.

Although Judge Kent made no mention of the court's future policy in disposing of such cases the additional 30 days probably will be tacked on to the punishment given admitted and convicted drunken drivers from now on.
